1967 ROUND TABLE

VOLUME XII

Published by the Yearbook Staff of Northwest Classen High School
Oklahoma City, Oklahoma

DISTINGUISHED administrators who "accepted the challenge"—Mr. J. Frank Malone and Mr. Jim Johnson.

SYMBOL of achievement—the victory flag is raised after a Knight win by Terry Farmer, senior class president.

Challenge to

Long ago in a far-away land
a Knight in shining armor met the challenge of life
by mastering the arts of the era—
chivalry, jousting, fencing.
Today, in 1967, Knights encounter
a more complex, changing world, demanding a "call to arms"
against indifference and insensitivity.
Always seeking the highest ground,
Knights interpret, communicate, attempt self-expression, share insights.
A symbol of the challenge to excel,
Sir Bedivere flings out the gauntlet—
"It's a way of life—treat it like life—
Accept the challenge!"

FIRST and foremost of Knights—Sir Bedivere, a reminder of the ties we share, stands regally at the front door of NWC.

You're one of the sweetest girls I know. I really did have fun the night I spent with you! I hope I get to see you some this summer. Maybe we'll be in some classes together next year. Please call me some this summer & keep in touch. Ok? I really would like to do a few things with you if you'd like to. We were really pretty good friends last year & then we sorta' parted. Have you seen Mike any? Sorry this is so messy — well, don't forget, keep in touch! Love, Janette

Greatness — a Noble Knight Heritage

MIRRORING the badge of unity, loyalty, and purpose, the Knight emblem serves as an inspiration to school leaders. Gloria Lundien, representing club presidents, John Musgrave, Student Council president, and Principal Jim J. Johnson display the most cherished of school symbols.

FUN at the State Fair is shared by Barbara Pedigo and Burt Ludrick, who enjoy collecting loot.

GRAD Diane Reynolds congratulates her successor, All-Sports queen Anita Spaeth.

Challenge of Opportunity

Arts of Expression Blend to Foster Better Social Life

Modern teenagers—
a separate entity in the masses— rebelling, wondering, searching,
attempting self-expression,
sharing insights,
grasping at the new and different.
With one life to live we want to make it count—
to strive to be better than we are.

SOLEMN, memorable moment—the singing of the Alma Mater after a game.

"AND this must be the auditorium." New administrators, Mr. Ron Millican, assistant principal, and Mr. Jim Johnson, principal, enjoy their first tour of the building after taking over duties October 1.

AUTO MECHANICS is anyman's hobby. Rick Varnell and Charles Hall wonder if the wheel will fit.

Quest for Knowledge, Truth — Motivating Force for Growth

Seeking, discovering, interpreting, reaching out to encircle knowledge—
a glowing promise for the future.
Those who break away from the crowd profit . . .
gain stature . . . find reality, maturity . . . and themselves.

WHO would have dreamed the earthworm looked like that? Meg Hopping utilizes the microscope in biology lab.

TERM REPORTS call for research in the library. Lucie Leaf scans the shelves for a book.

The 'Best of the Best' for Northwest

— Aim of Groups

Enriching, enlivening, moving— organizations are our vehicles.
Leading, following, belonging, shared experiences, the joys of service
promote understanding of others and through them, ourselves.

WONDERING if these goodies will last through second hour, Deanna Bond prepares for the Spanish Club's bake sale.

VOLUNTEER painters arriving early to help improve the appearance of the campus are Lynn McDonald, chairman of Student Council Building and Grounds committee, and Bob Kerns, committee member.

IT isn't a castle in the air, but a castle in the office built by PTSA memberships. Mrs. Gerald Emerson, Kerry Slack, and Mrs. Leo Thompson add cornerstones as memberships are recorded daily.

Overflowing Spirit, Rivalry Spark Teams

Time erases the roar of the crowd,
but the unity of the "team" continues to add stature to every player.
Wearers of purple and gold impart courage,
wherever Knight teams go.

LEADING the pack in a Mid-State Conference cross-country meet is Jim Perkins, senior.

PEP CLUBBERS go "all out" to support Knight teams.

KNIGHT GRIDMEN posted a successful season's record of seven wins, two losses, and one tie. This record has been bested by only one other team in school history, the 1959 squad which won the state championship. Eight key men on the team were Earl Cody (13), Barney Horrigan (15), Jim Grasley (30), Mack McGuire (42), Charles Perkins (32), Steve Choate (20), Steve Holloway (14), Leonard West (61).

People — the Heart of a School

Who can define a school? A school year?
The true values are but products
of the people who live it.
We determine its dimensions—
its breadth, depth, heighth—
We are the school year in spirit—you, I, we.

JUNIORS scramble to beat seniors. Keen competition between classes on school paper drives is traditional at Northwest.

A BIT of exercise and a breath of air between classes is refreshing for students crossing the patio, always a favorite part of Northwest's sprawling campus.

CLASSES take field trips to points of interest. Business law students attend a court session.

IT'S GRADUATION DAY—and Randy Fitzpatrick can't wait to celebrate.

ORIENTATION DAY—Courtesy Club girls Lani Wallin and Marsha Wilson (center) direct Sherry Lester and Dennis Brock on a tour of the building.

WISHING WELL donations by Debbie Saied and Nancy Fisher aid the school United Appeal drive.

THE ACTION was in the patio when PTSA sponsored a mixer.

Pam,
its been fun in Geets class this year. Hope to see you in more of my classes! Have fun this summer! see you around next year. Stay sweet and cute all year round.
God keep you! J[illegible]

COLOR AND BEAUTY are added at football games by a Knightland tradition—the appearance of the Knight (Rob Risner) and Lady (Phillie Luza) circling the Taft Stadium track on horseback.

Student Life

The sparkling moments—
many things, many moods . . .
special people, queens, contests.
Hours of preparation reflect talent, creativity.
We realize that living means "to do—"
Not to avoid doing.

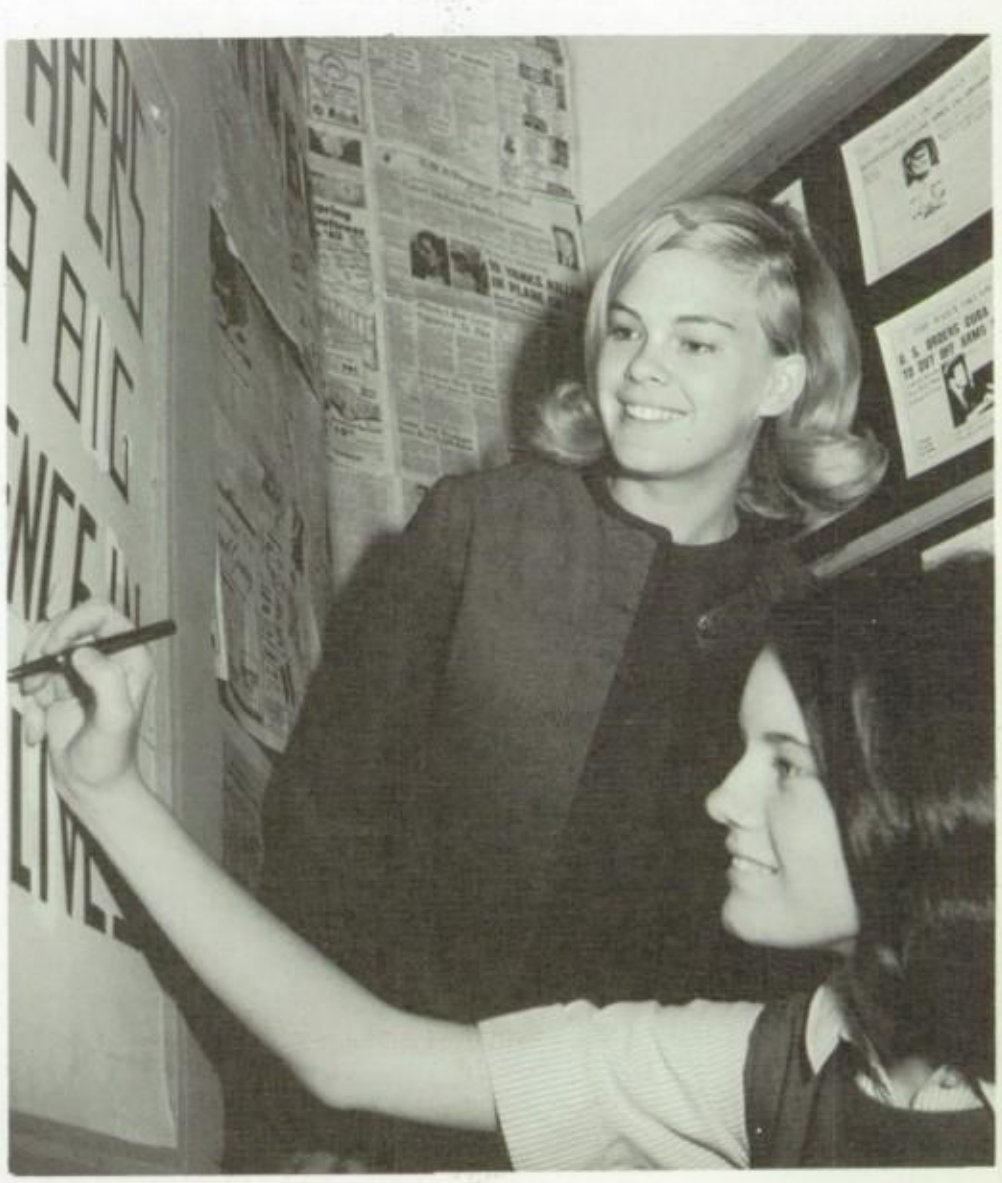
LUCKY Shield staffers, Linda Tate and Anne Funderburk, attend a press conference for Miss America, Oklahoma's Jane Jayroe.

HOWDY MIXER dancers, Linda Porter and Johnny Green, seem happy to be socializing again at Northwest.



DISPLAY CASES were filled every week by school groups. Journalists Therese Cabell and Anne Funderburk prepare a National Newspaper Week exhibit.

Old, New Features Mark 'Banner Year'

REALIZING that an impressive beginning sets the stage for a successful school year, Knights initiated planning during summer months.

Student Council orientation committees met, Shield staff reporters gathered news for a traditional first-day paper, and Knights and Ladies welcomed the new AFS student.

Some inconvenience was experienced when Knights returned to school to find surrounding streets closed for repairs and widening. But the resulting benefits—additional school parking lot exits on Thirtieth Street, more space around Taft Stadium—were enthusiastically welcomed.

From the first week of school when students greeted each other at the "Howdy Mixer", followed by the second week's Prep Preview, prospects for a "banner year" were bright.

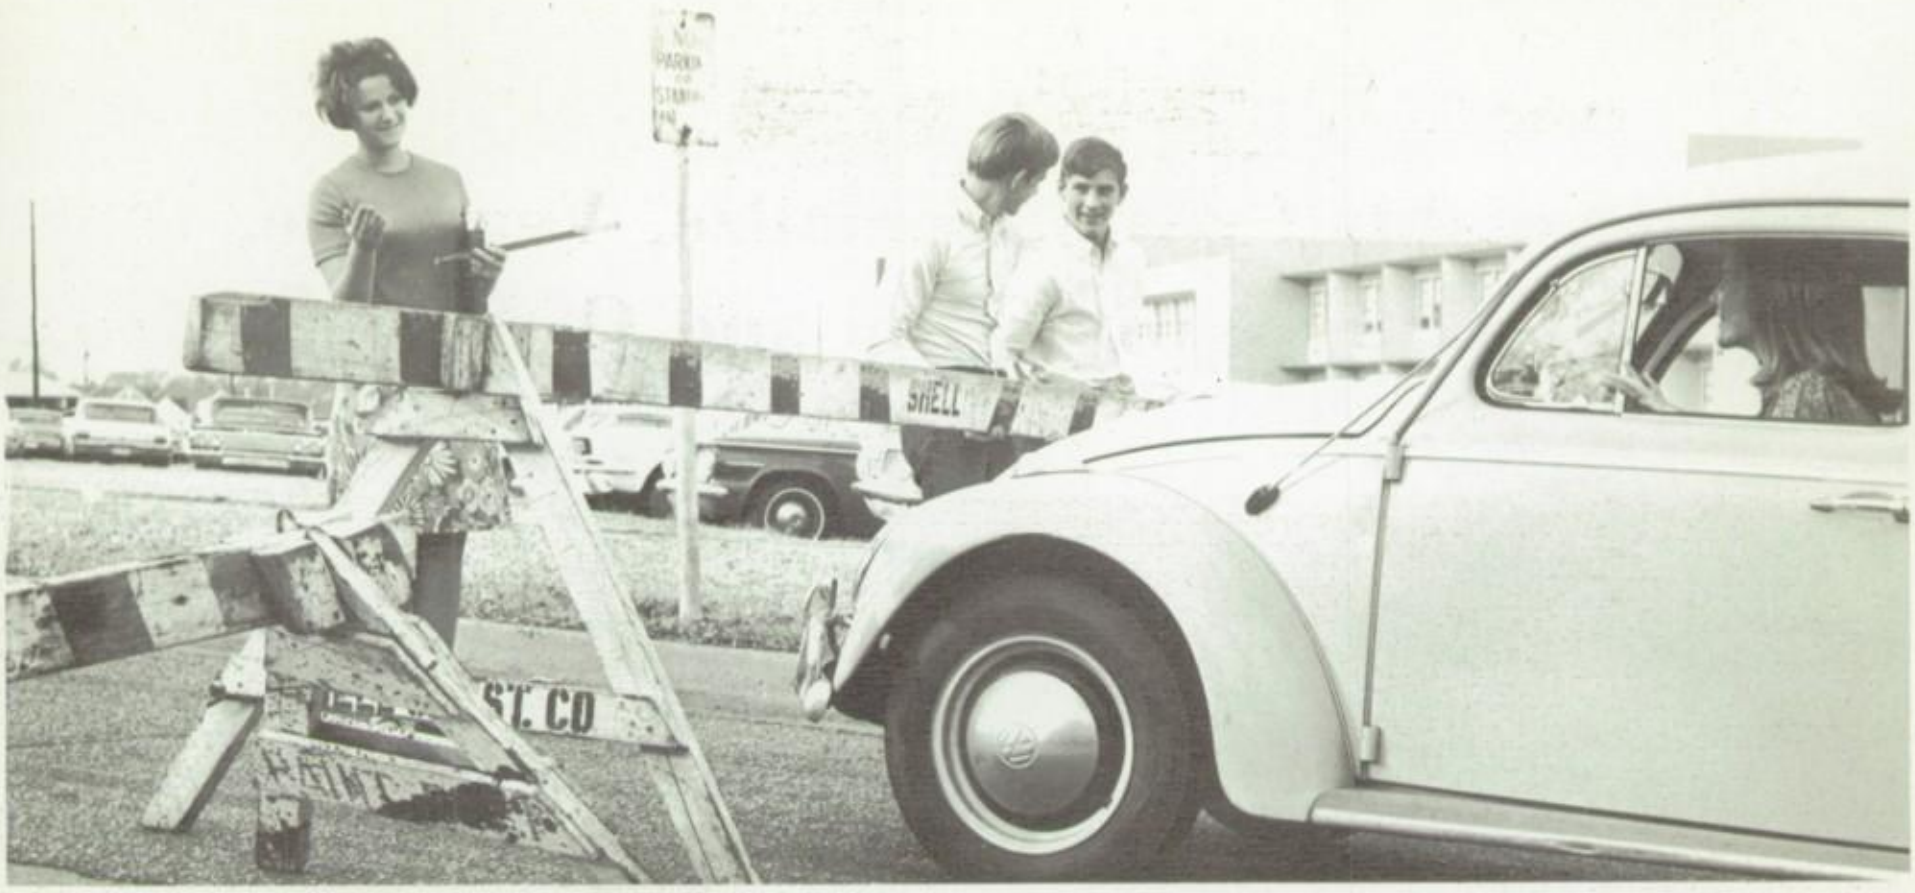
One of the year's biggest news stories was the crowning of OCU's Jane Jayroe as Miss America. School scribes interviewed her for the Times.

FRESHMAN ORIENTATION marks the beginning of a new school year. New students are welcomed by Student Council officers.

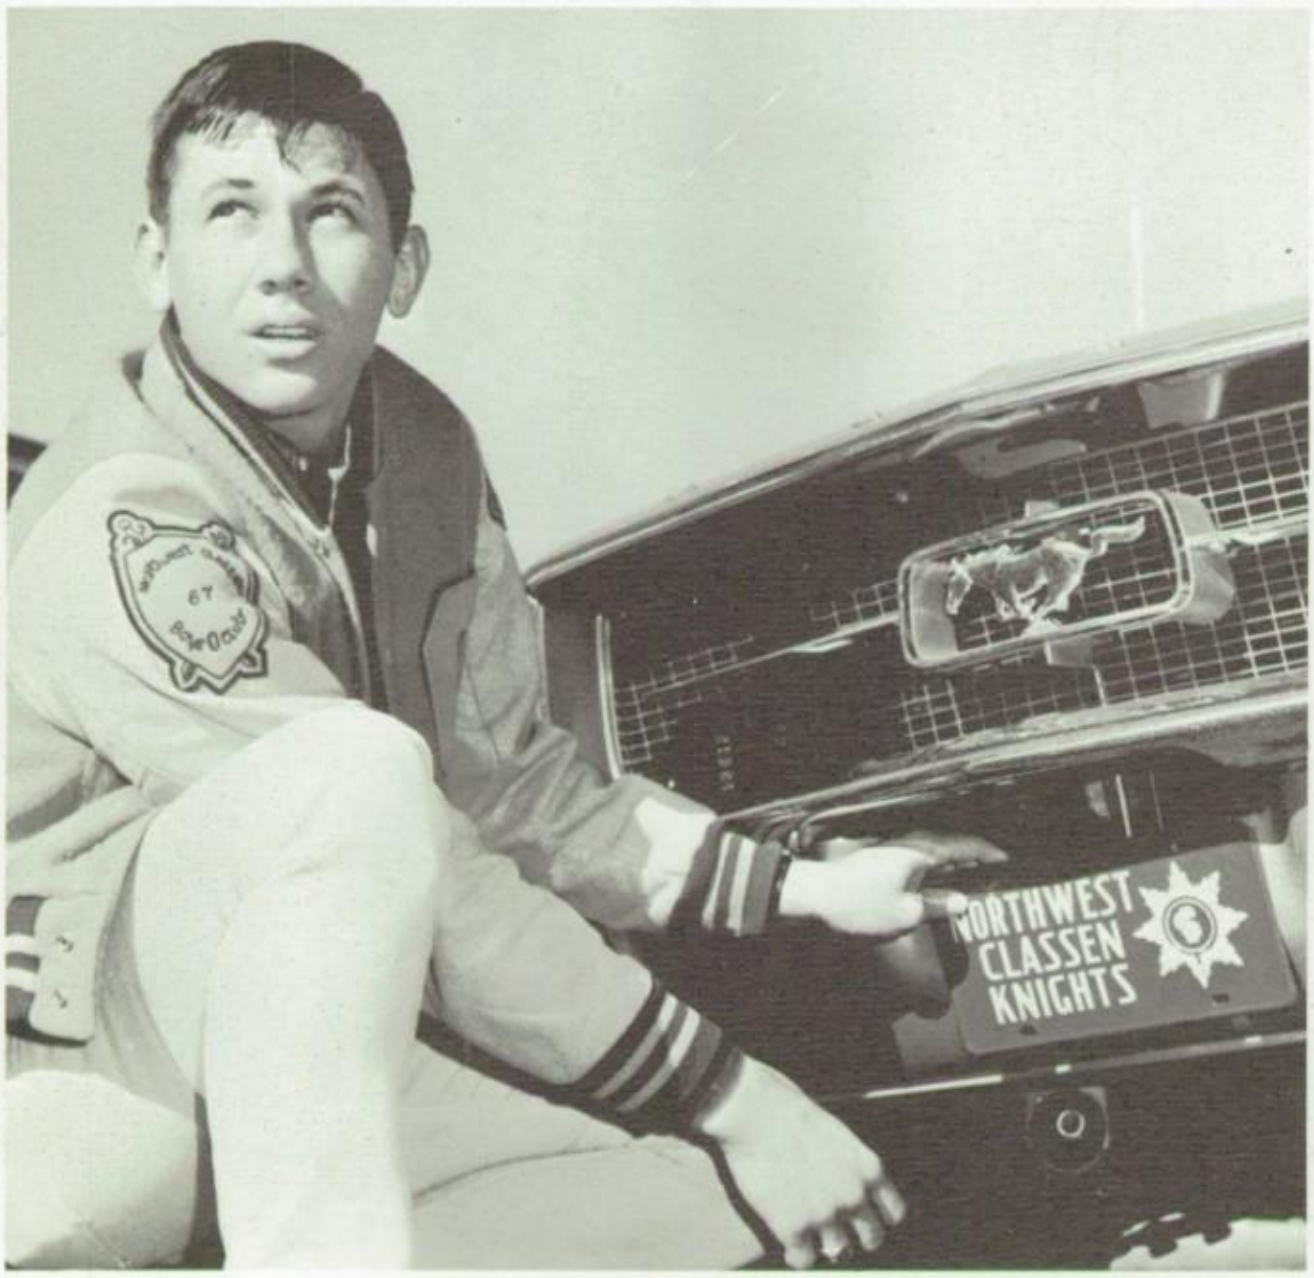
PREP PREVIEW affords fans a brief look at all city teams before regular season. Knights cheer the victorious West squad, composed of six schools' teams.

Knights Create, Socialize, Verbalize, Strive for Form and Order

HOMECOMING decorations are given the finishing touches by seniors Janie Norfleet, Sharyl Davis, and Debbie Finefrock before the football game with Shawnee.



"RAISE IT a little higher, boys." Stephany Christian, Chris Lowry, Marty Schnetzler and David Goddard are baffled by obstacles in the street which confront Knights when they return to school in September. More convenient approaches to NW were provided by widening surrounding streets.



PROUDLY attaching to his car the new license plate with the Knights' emblem is Senior James Schantz.

FLAMES roar, spirits soar in a bonfire before the homecoming game.

THE DUBIOUS distinction of disposing of some 400 empty boxes following the Red Cross doughnut sale was the lot of Don Samara.

CATCHING occasional sounds from the gym is as close as check room attendants Jim Baker and Betsy Alaupovic get to the mixer.

TIDYING up the school on Student Council Citizenship Day is Anita Spaeth, who was designated head custodian by Council representatives.

Master Planning Carefully Charts Year's Success

BY THE END of September, Knightland had settled into its familiar pattern of life. Rewarding, exciting new experiences were always "just around the corner."

Few people realized the many details of planning which produced the high caliber of programs and activities traditional at Northwest.

Who set up the risers for the chorus? Who ordered the cokes for the mixers? How did it happen that Knights accomplished so much with a minimum of confusion?

Teamwork. Knights worked together beginning with Student Council, where the blueprints for extra-curricular life were drawn up. Courtesy and Key clubs ushered, directed. Pep Clubs applauded, sold programs, presented capers. Announcers Club informed over Central Sound. The band played; Cry-Slurs sang. Art students made posters, audio-visual aides tested mikes, the speech department built scenery, flipped switches.

Over 100 people were involved in just the planning of PTSA Career Day.

In the end components assembled miraculously. Everyone worked conscientiously to fulfill his duty to complete the careful chart of success.

GREETING airline stewardess Linda Seay on Career Day is Cathy Grisham.

"I DIDN'T do it!" Hal Sonderegger tells principals-for-a-day Greg Farha, Scott Wadley, and Bruce Fairchild. This trio took over the main office Citizenship Week.

LIST of items for the Student Council Christmas project, the Carver school for handicapped children, is checked by Greg Farha. He and other committee members, Janie Phillips and Gary Zanovich, shop for gifts which were delivered to the thirty-two children by Council members.

Glow of Christmas Spirit Shines in Knightland

A SMALL ENSEMBLE of Cry-slurs entertains shoppers during the Christmas season.

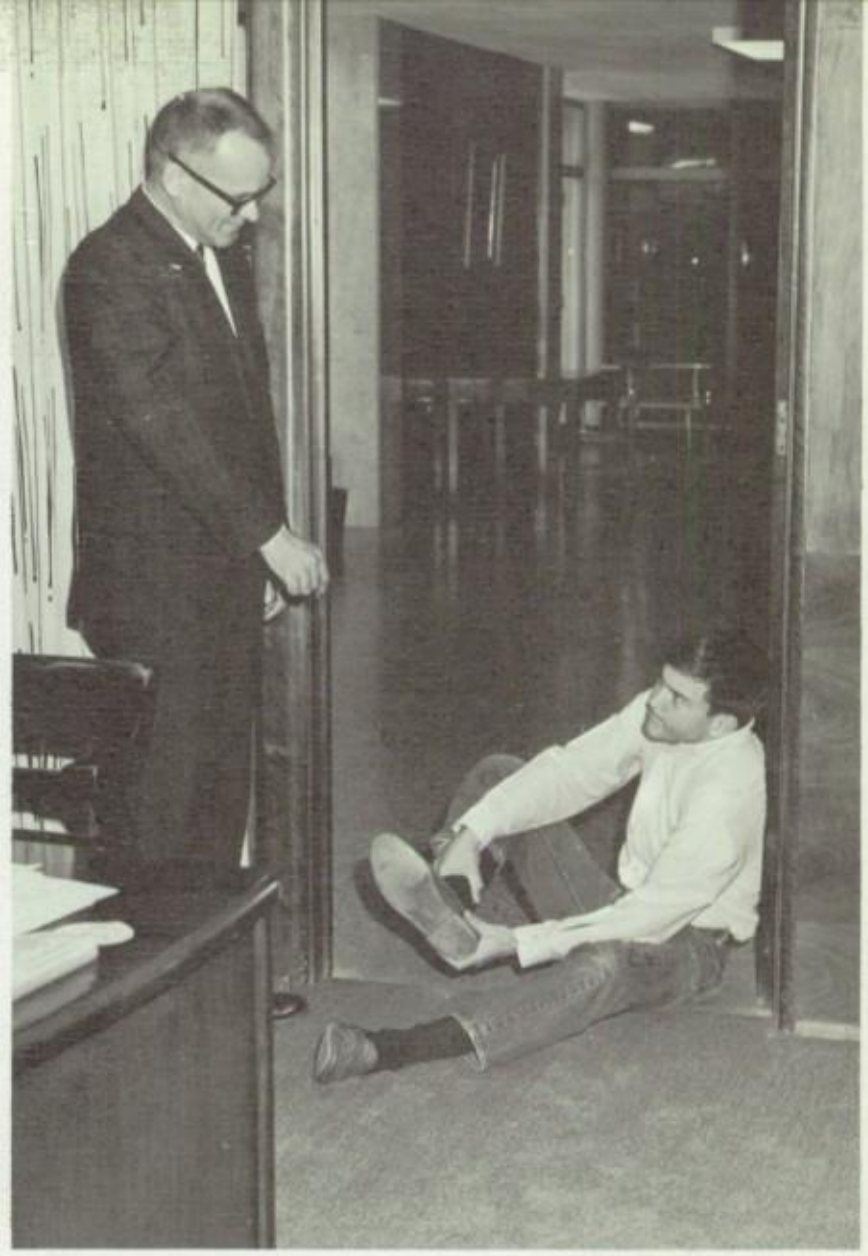
THE OBSERVATION of Christmas in Knightland would have restored the faith of even the most skeptical, who claim the true meaning of Christmas is no longer recognized in this modern, commercial world.

All forty-nine clubs and organizations chose service projects. The Hi-Y collected enough food to provide for a needy family almost a month, numerous groups sent carolers to homes and hospitals, Key Clubbers rang bells for the Salvation Army, and Red Cross entertained underprivileged children.

The art department transformed the school into a winter wonderland glowing with Christmas spirit. Drama and music departments provided impressive programs, and Knights went home for the holidays with the blessed, warm feeling that comes from the unselfish, generous giving of oneself to others.

None could forget, however, that finals were fast approaching, and students, hopeful of squeezing in some studying, carried home carloads of books.

CHRISTMAS SEASON in Knightland is brightened by the musical performances of Cry-slur Anna Gatewood and other choir members.



"BUT I polished them," insists Randy Fitzpatrick to Mr. Johnson as he comes to see the office's new carpet, present from the classes.

A NEW EXPERIENCE for "Dusy" Sibechi, AFS student, is trimming a tree with members of her American family, Mrs. Berthelot and Tina.

DESIGNED to stir imagination of small children, dragonheads are fashioned by stage crewmen Roger Spear and Lorrie Keller.

"SHALL I or shall I not?" Princess Harp (Susan Cooper) ponders the fate of the Road Wanderer (Randy Fitzpatrick) in the "Land of the Dragon."

TEEN PROBLEMS provoke lively discussion among PTSA panelists: Dr. Jesse Lindley, Mrs. Martha Knott, Mrs. Evelyn Williamson, Gloria Lundien, and Steve Kalmon.

GUESTS applaud speaker Don Greves, business executive, at the annual Distributive Education banquet. Jim May, president, Linda Stratton, club queen, preside.

A DIP into English literature reflects depth of thought on Lila Mannas' face.

Tempo Quickens at Mid-Way Mark

THE NEW YEAR prompted a new round of special events as Knights marked the passing of first semester and faced the final phase of the school year.

To seniors, this halfway mark was particularly significant. When pre-enrollment forms were distributed in January, seniors were oddly thoughtful for several days.

School groups continued to grow and develop. Cherished traditions were perpetuated, new precedents established.

Several "repeat" performances of previous successes stemmed from popular demand. The drama department presented its second children's theater production, "Land of the Dragon," featuring colorful sets designed and constructed by stagecraft classes.

The PTSA sponsored another panel discussion on teen problems with questions being submitted by the audience.

The social season was highlighted by annual events: Distributive Education employer-employee banquet and the Mardi Gras ball, sponsored by Courtesy Club.

Everyone breathed a sigh of relief when final exams were over the last of January, and thoughts quickly turned to the final whirl of activities.

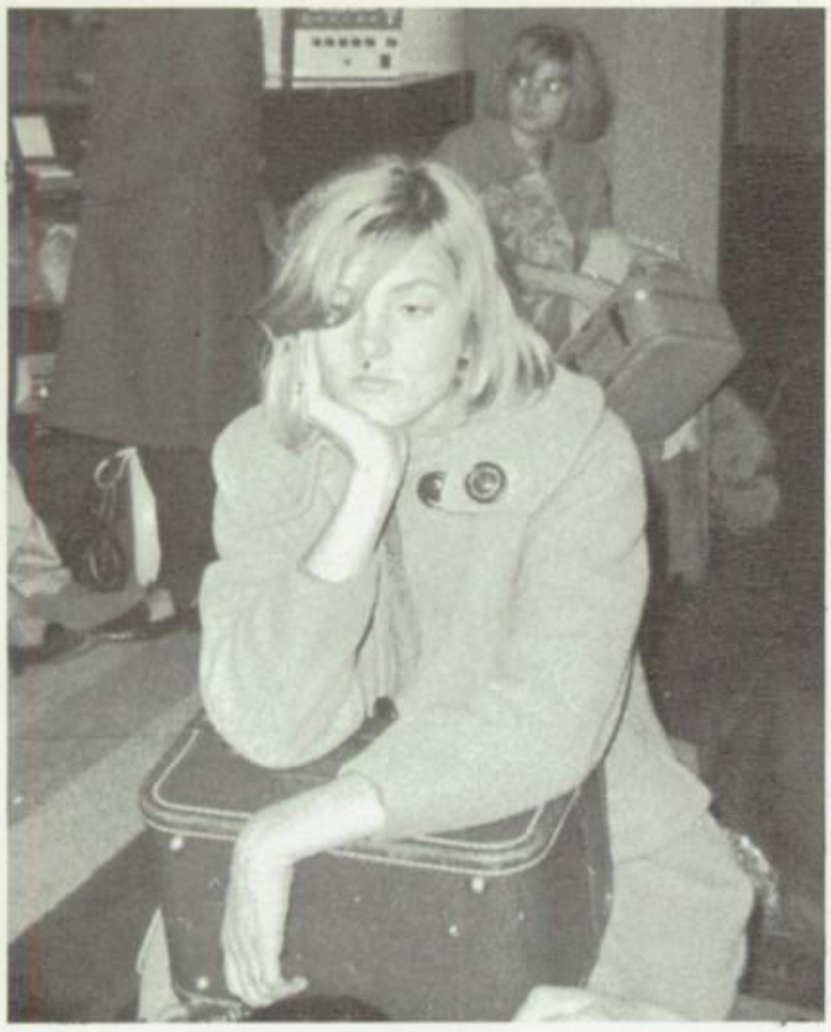
"WHY did she get so many?" John Morozuk compares Debi Davis' stack of Cupid Express messages with his lone Valentine.



WEARY journalist Linda Porter waits in the lobby to check out of a Chicago hotel after attending NSPA Convention.

Traditions, Thrones Note of Enthusiasm.

KNIGHTLAND'S romantic traditions were perpetuated in February when Valentine messages and candy were exchanged via Cupid Express. American Field Service netted $717 from the sentimental tokens.

It seemed that Knights were always "on the go." Debaters, dramatists, musicians journeyed to tournaments, while journalists and club delegates attended conventions. These groups never came back empty handed. Cry-slurs took sweepstakes at the Edmond Festival the eighth straight year, debaters broke a school (probably any city school) record when they won sweepstakes at two tournaments the same day.

Booster Club Moms raised money to pay for the athletes' blazers by playing a benefit basketball game with WKY D-J's.

Knights loved parties. Whether it be school mixers, club or class socials, "pinning" parties for candidates, or "folding" parties for the Shield, Knights turned out in full force to support all school endeavors.

HAPPINESS is being crowned Knight and Lady of Friendship, agree Gloria Lundien and Jim Grasley at the Valentine assembly in February.

"DON'T peek, now." Tom Brady shows his voting card to Kay Jarchow.

"WHEN do we have cookies?" Trudy Gaut, daughter of Assistant Principal Bob Gaut, provides child care students Tonya Cobb and Janice Hester with valuable experience in the home economics department's nursery school.

"ONLY 2500 more Shields to fold," says Judy Noble, as the staff meets for their bi-monthly "folding party."

Elections Stir Students

SPRING ELECTIONS generated greater interest than usual as students rallied to choose Student Council, class leaders and cheerleaders for 1967-68.

The new voting card, substituted for ID's, proved popular. Colorful campaigns inspired a larger turnout at the polls than anticipated after the previous year's apathy.

Practically every spring day brought announcements over Central Sound advising a proud student body of new Knight achievements.

Therese Cabell, crowned City Princess of Print, was the third Northwest journalist in as many years to win the title. Candidates from 14 area high schools competed.

"Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," a light, romantic comedy, was the final all-school play production March 17-18. Veteran school actors, Randy Fitzpatrick and Monty Lewis, turned in stellar performances in their dramatic "swan songs."

Students went about their daily routines, counting the days, with mixed emotions, until May 25.

JOINING the Mummers Theatre party, composed of Great Books classes, are Betsy Beausang and Craig Simms.

TWENTY SENIORS were nominated for Round Table Royalty by the Round Table staff November 8.

Following an all-school election, candidates were narrowed to ten finalists. They were Elaine Claunch, Karen Kincaid, Janie Phillips, Jane Thompson, Marsha Wilson, Bruce Fairchild, Randy Fitzpatrick, Jim Grasley, Steve Lowell, and John Reeves.

An extensive campaign was concluded by final balloting December 22.

City Schools

Leaders Link Schools with Community Life

SMOOTH OPERATION of Oklahoma City's 117 schools depended heavily on the efforts of Dr. Lillard, new superintendent, and the five elected School Board members.

Proof that directing the mushrooming system was "big business" was the fact that 75,125 students were instructed by 3,056 certified teachers. In addition, there were 1,096 non-certified employees, consisting of secretaries and maintenance workers.

Total budget for the school district was $29,864,000, an increase of $7,097,000 over last year's expenditures.

School Board members, who exemplify the ultimate in good citizenship as they devote increasing amounts of time to considering the needs and problems of the schools, include a housewife, consultant in psychology, industrialist, farm superintendent and banker.

SUPERINTENDENT of Oklahoma State University's experimental farm is Mr. W. F. Lott, Board Member from Ward III.

TWO "president's chairs" are occupied by Mr. Melvin Rogers. He is president of the School Board as well as the Spencer State Bank.

ARRANGING floral centerpieces is one of the hobbies of Mrs. Warren Welch, Board Member from Ward 1, which is Northwest's district.

Administration

New Principal Views Northwest as 'Proud'

"I remember Northwest Classen as a happy school, as a warm school, and as a proud school. This spirit shall continue."

These were Mr. Jim Johnson's words of greeting when he renewed acquaintances in Knightland upon being named principal October 1.

Mr. Johnson served as Northwest's assistant principal from 1960 until he went to Northeast High School as principal in 1963.

When Mr. J. Frank Malone, who had been Northwest's principal for ten years, resigned to become area coordinator for the Mid-Continent Region Educational Laboratory, Mr. Johnson returned to replace him.

Like Mr. Malone, Mr. Johnson is active in professional organizations. He served as president of the Oklahoma City Council of Administrators this year and was elected vice president of the State Secondary School Principals' Association October 27 at OEA meeting.

Mr. Johnson is publicity chairman of Phi Delta Kappa, honorary fraternity for educators. He belongs to OEA, NEA, and National Secondary School Principals' Association.

He received his bachelors degree from Pepperdine College in Los Angeles, his masters degree from the University of Tulsa. He plans to complete his doctoral program at OU within the next two years.

MEETING with teachers in the conference room is part of Mr. Johnson's daily routine. Mr. Leonard Ogle, Miss Martha Truax, Mr. Bob Gaut, Mrs. Ann Walker, and Mr. Johnson conduct a safety committee meeting.

Special Services

Team Work — Key to Efficient Administration

TEAM WORK was the key to providing the best possible services for Northwest students as administrators and counselors assumed special responsibilities.

A change in assignments October 1 resulted in Mr. Gaut's moving to Mr. Leon Bruner's office when Mr. Bruner was named Northeast principal. Mr. Gaut worked with the department of research at the Central Office on all problems relating to accounting. He also directed scheduling, prepared daily bulletins, and supervised student teachers.

Mr. Ron Millican, who joined the staff when Mr. Bruner left, was in charge of parking lot safety and helped students and teachers with individual problems. All administrators were involved in the teacher-evaluation program.

GUIDANCE SPECIALISTS offered individual counseling, kept complete student records, maintained a strong testing program, and supplied college bound students with scholarship and entrance requirement information.

In addition to coordinating the counseling program, Mr. Weinert supervised IBM procedures. Development of orientation for new students was Mrs. Oakes' concern. She also worked closely with PTSA and special education. Other counselors' specialties were educational information, Miss Wester; vocational information, Mr. Milburn; testing program, Mr. Heusel; home-bound study, correspondence courses, Mrs. Wakely.

NW Staff Keeps Pace with Growing Needs

COMPETENT AND ABREAST of the times, Northwest's faculty, along with the administrative and counseling staff, worked diligently to keep pace with the ever-growing needs of 3,175 students.

Typical of the larger high schools around the nation, Northwest offered an enriched program consisting of 121 units of accredited work. New facilities were constantly being added to implement modern methods of instruction.

Northwest's staff consisted of three administrators, six counselors, activities director, nurse, two librarians, vocational rehabilitation director, 108 classroom teachers and 15 secretaries. School personnel was completed by 24 cafeteria and 19 custodial workers.

Philosophy Views Learning as 'Idea Exchange'

COURT PROCEDURES were studied first hand by Mrs. Susan McGee's business law students. Teacher's husband, lawyer Tom McGee, served as guide and explained courtroom routine.

Mrs. Findly Selected Teacher of the Year

HIGHLIGHT of the year for the Northwest faculty was the selection of Mrs. Evelyn Findly, business education teacher, as the State Teacher of the Year. Announcement was made at the annual Teacher of the Year banquet at the State Fair September 30.

Mrs. Findly had previously been elected by her colleagues as Northwest's choice for competition in the Oklahoma City Teacher of the Year contest. She was the second Northwest teacher to win the City title in the last three years. Mr. John Paden, science teacher, was chosen in 1964.

Mrs. Findly is the only Oklahoma City teacher ever selected for the State honor.

Faculty

Staff Members Hold Professional Offices

TOP professional posts were held by staff members as Northwest's faculty boasted a high percentage of membership in OEA, NEA, and Oklahoma City Classroom Teachers Association.

Mrs. Findly served on the OEA Board of Directors' Executive Committee, and Mrs. Burdette was elected vice president of District OEA. She was also chairman of the Oklahoma City Schools' Public Relations Committee.

For the fourth consecutive year Miss Truax was one of seven board members of the State English Council. She was also appointed to the Governor's Committee on Hiring the Handicapped.

Mrs. Blevins was past president and current board member of the Oklahoma City Reading Council. She was a consultant at the International Reading Council and a Vocational Rehabilitation Workshop in Dallas and Austin, Texas, respectively.

Mrs. Davidson, as a third-year director for the mathematics division of OEA, coordinated arrangements for all state meetings.

Mrs. Ball was building chairman for the school representation in District OEA, while Mr. Ogle served in the same capacity for the Oklahoma City Classroom Teachers Association.

Reputation Is Due to 'School Keeping'

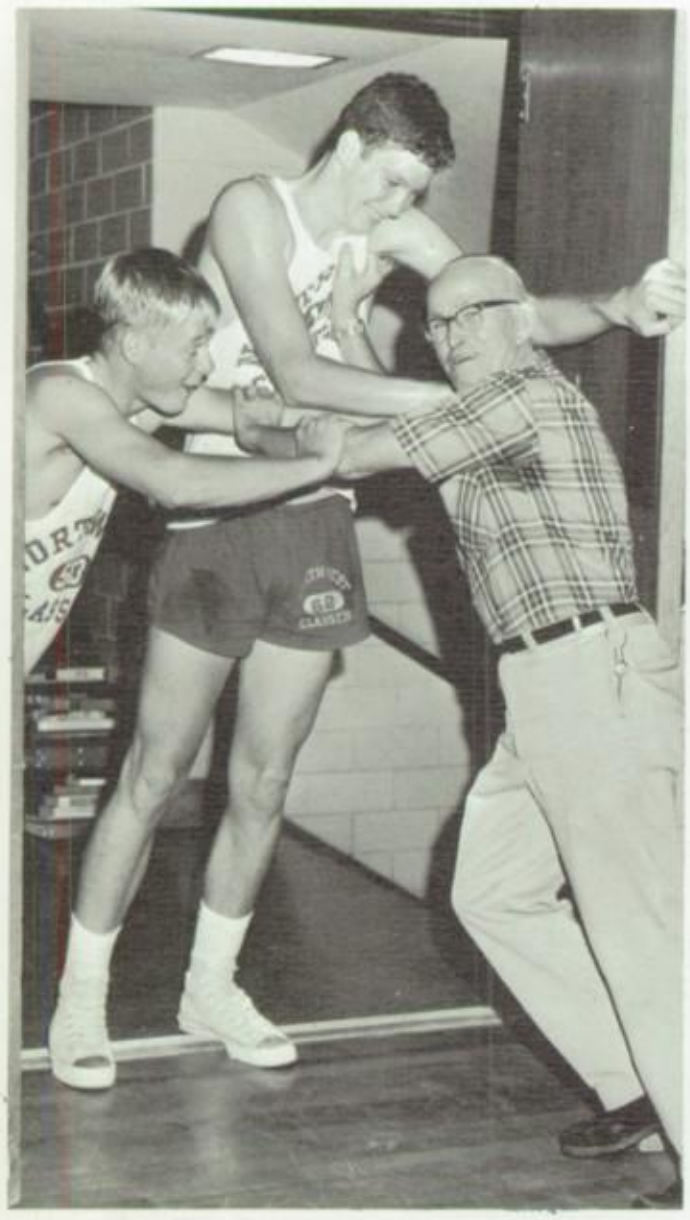
PRIDE in maintaining the building and grounds and in serving nourishing food has become traditional at Northwest.

"School keeping" required custodial crews working around the clock to keep Knightland clean and warm. Mechanical operations inside the building were ready for inspection at all times.

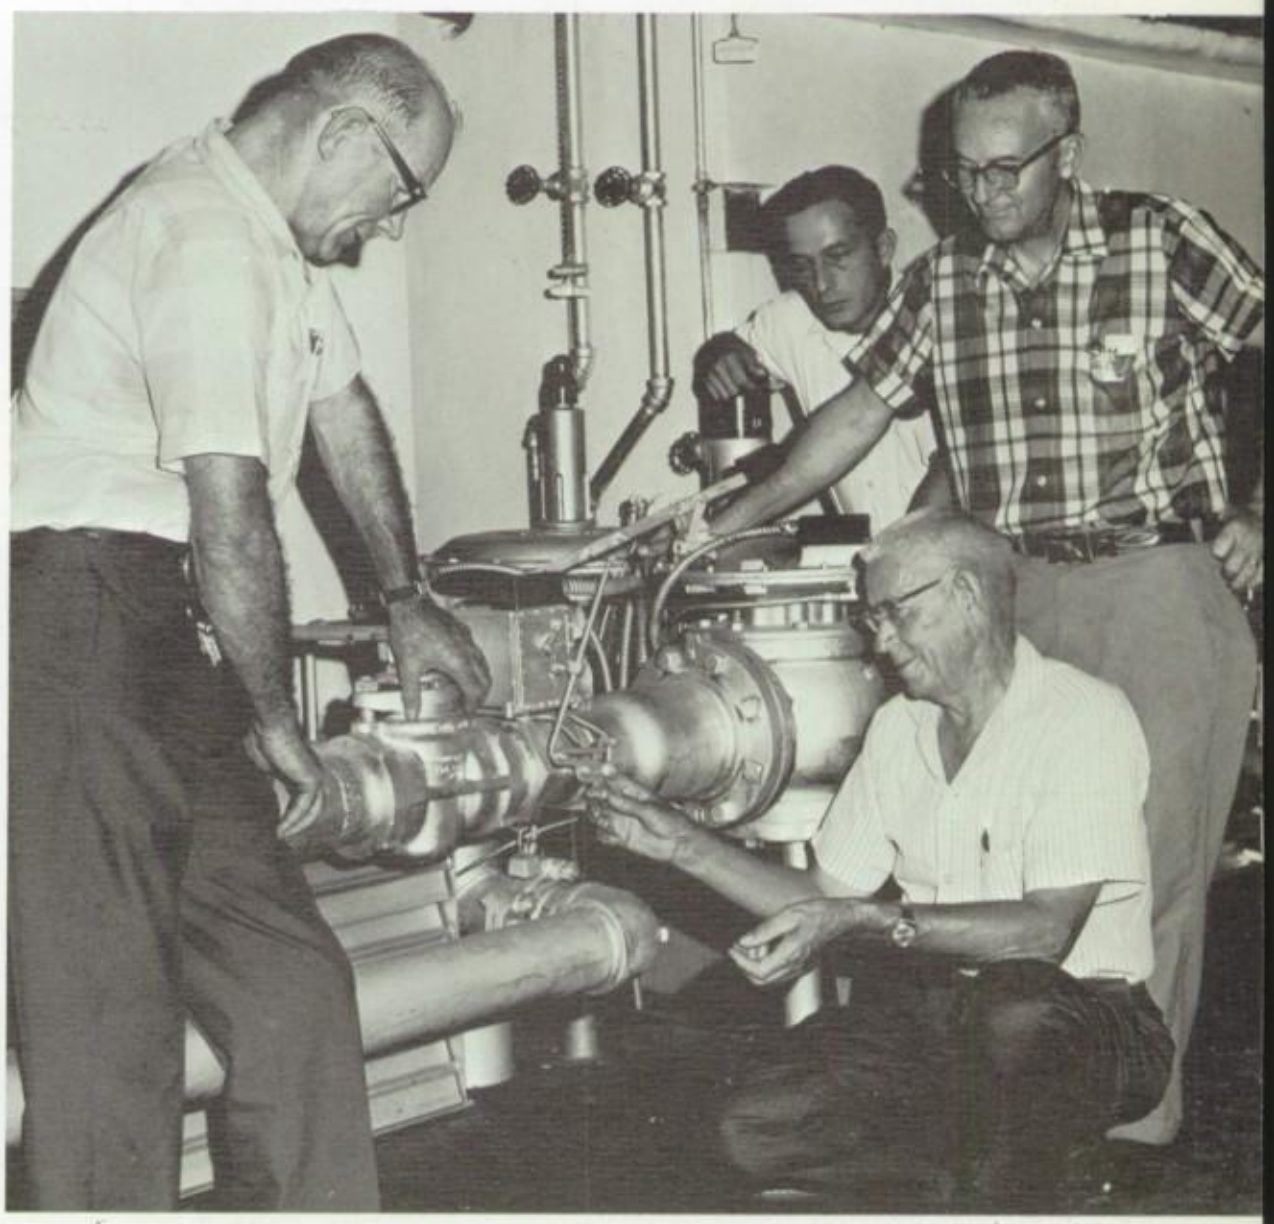
Cafeteria lines were a little longer because the former "staggered" lunch periods were reduced from seven to three to alleviate hall traffic and interruption of classes.

Since Northwest is the largest school plant in this area, organizational meetings and dinners were held here frequently by school groups. Although this necessitated extra work hours for the 19-member custodial and 25-member cafeteria staffs, they cooperated whole-heartedly in providing excellent service.

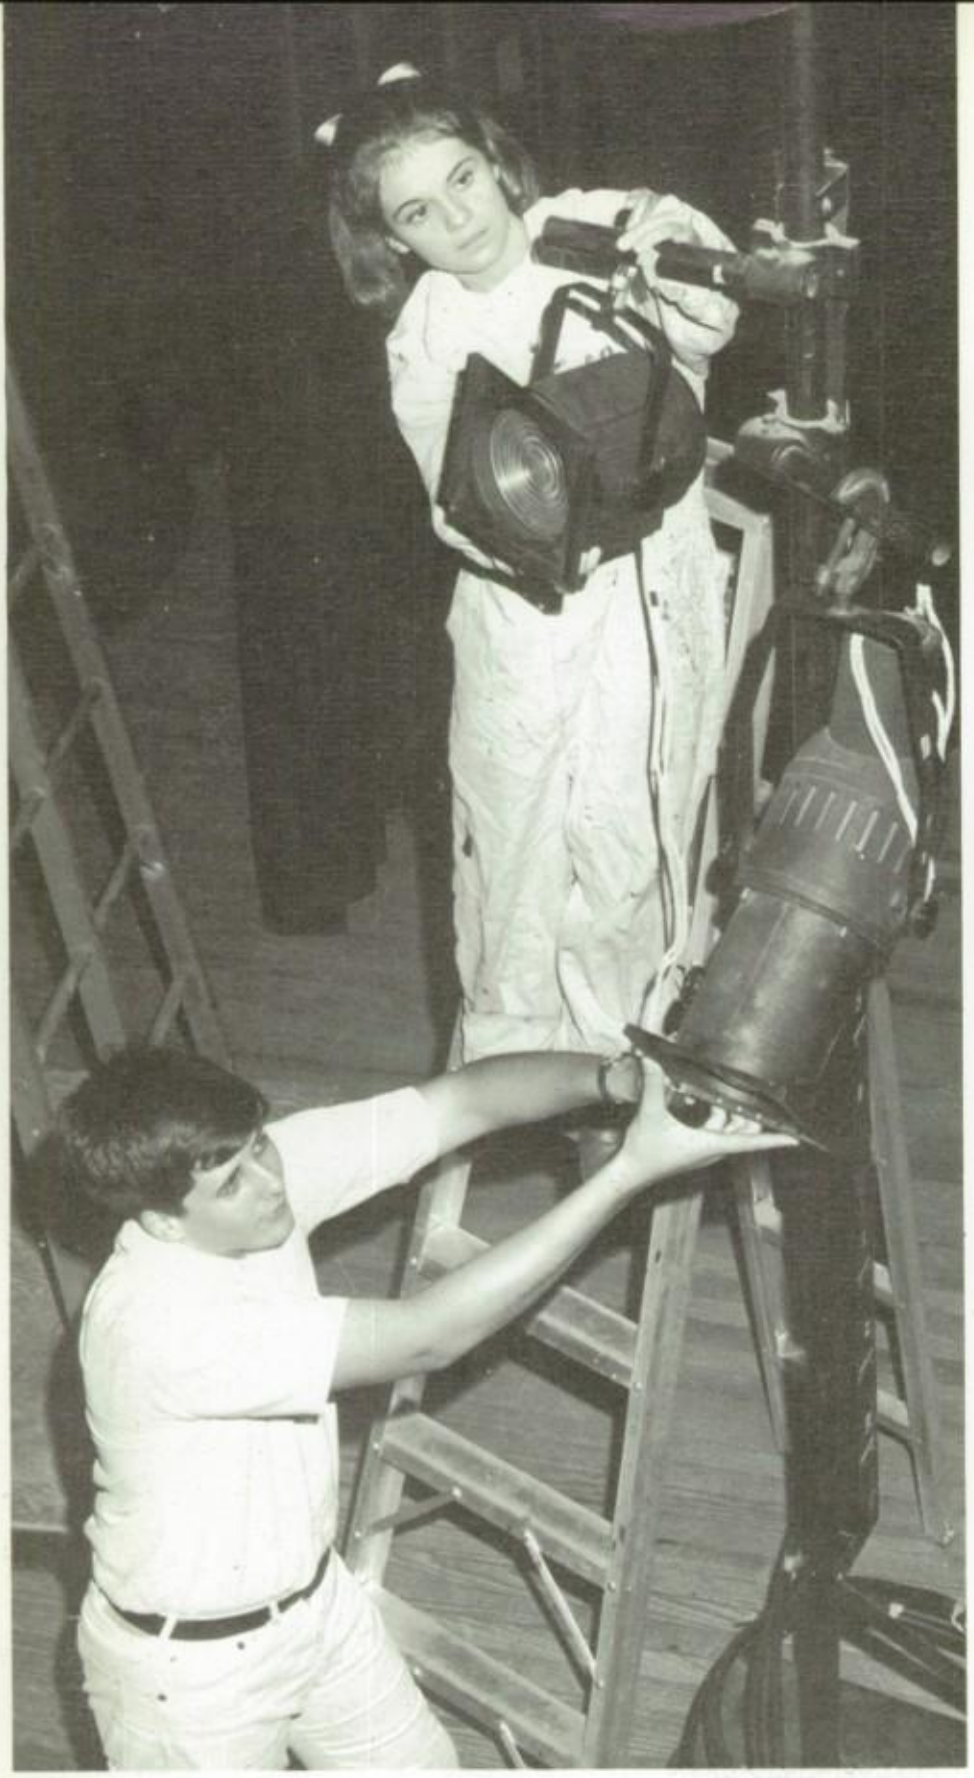
LAST MINUTE checking before lunch hours occupies manager Nettie Young.



HAVING TROUBLE keeping basketball players Mike Sutter and Steve Mitchell off the gym floor before practice time is custodian Herman Forga.



MECHANICAL OPERATIONS concern Elzie Addington, fireman; Doug Roden, floorman; Raymond Tarter, assistant head custodian; and Sam Teague, head of the 19-member custodial staff. Grooming of Northwest's 40-acre campus is also a staff responsibility.



POLISHED PRODUCTIONS by the drama department require precision in adjusting lights. Lorrie Keller and David Pope follow cues in "Our Town."

REPEATED curtain calls for the cast of "Our Town," the season's first all-school play, are demanded by an appreciative audience.

Speech, Art

Drama Students Win Acclaim at Tourneys

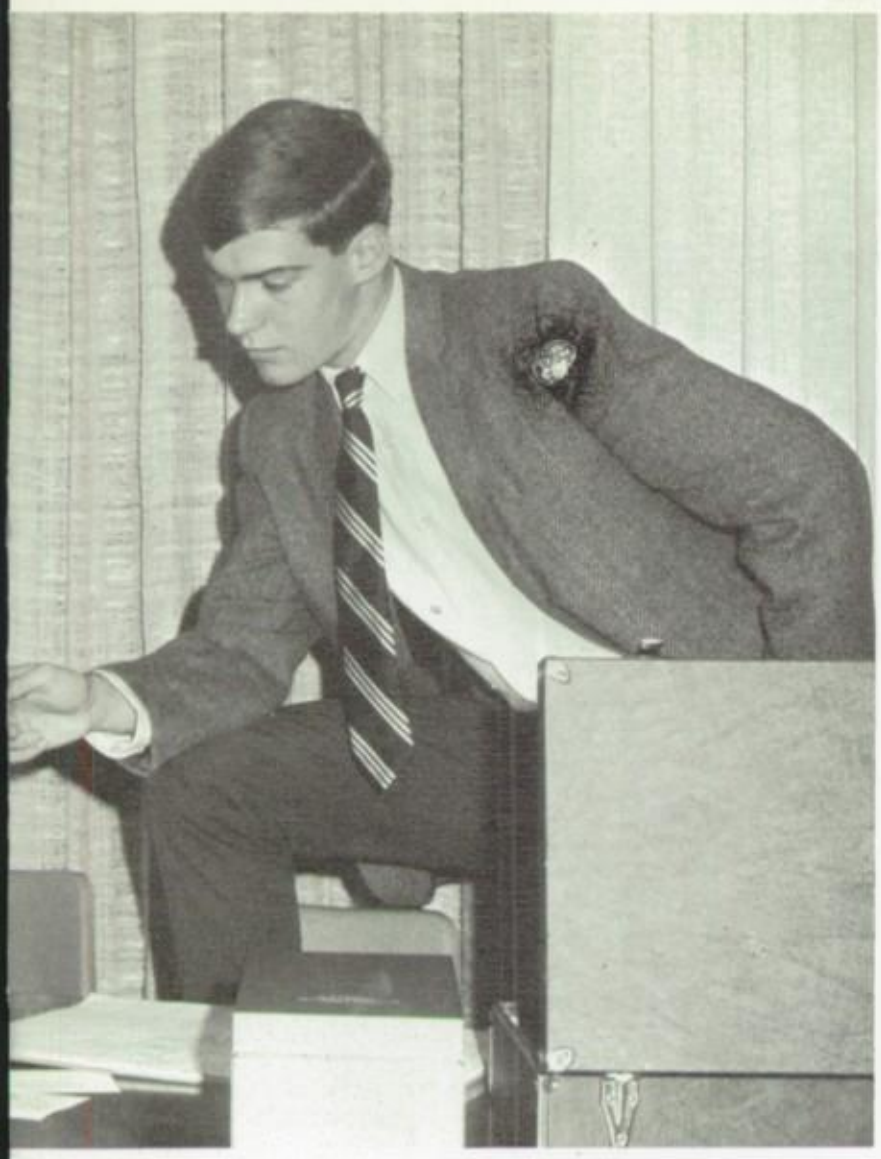
WITH BRIEFCASES packed and mental notes organized, Knight debaters and drama students were a constant asset to the school and community in the field of good public relations as well as specific capabilities.

Debaters carried the 1966 question of "Resolved: That the Foreign Aid Program of the United States Should Be Limited to Non-Military Assistance" to tourneys in Oklahoma and Texas, and their commendable record added to last year's 10 tournament victories.

The Play Production class produced three plays: "Our Town," "The Magic Horn," a children's play, and "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay."

Originality, imagination, and interpretation were stressed by instructors in the approach to teaching all forms of art.

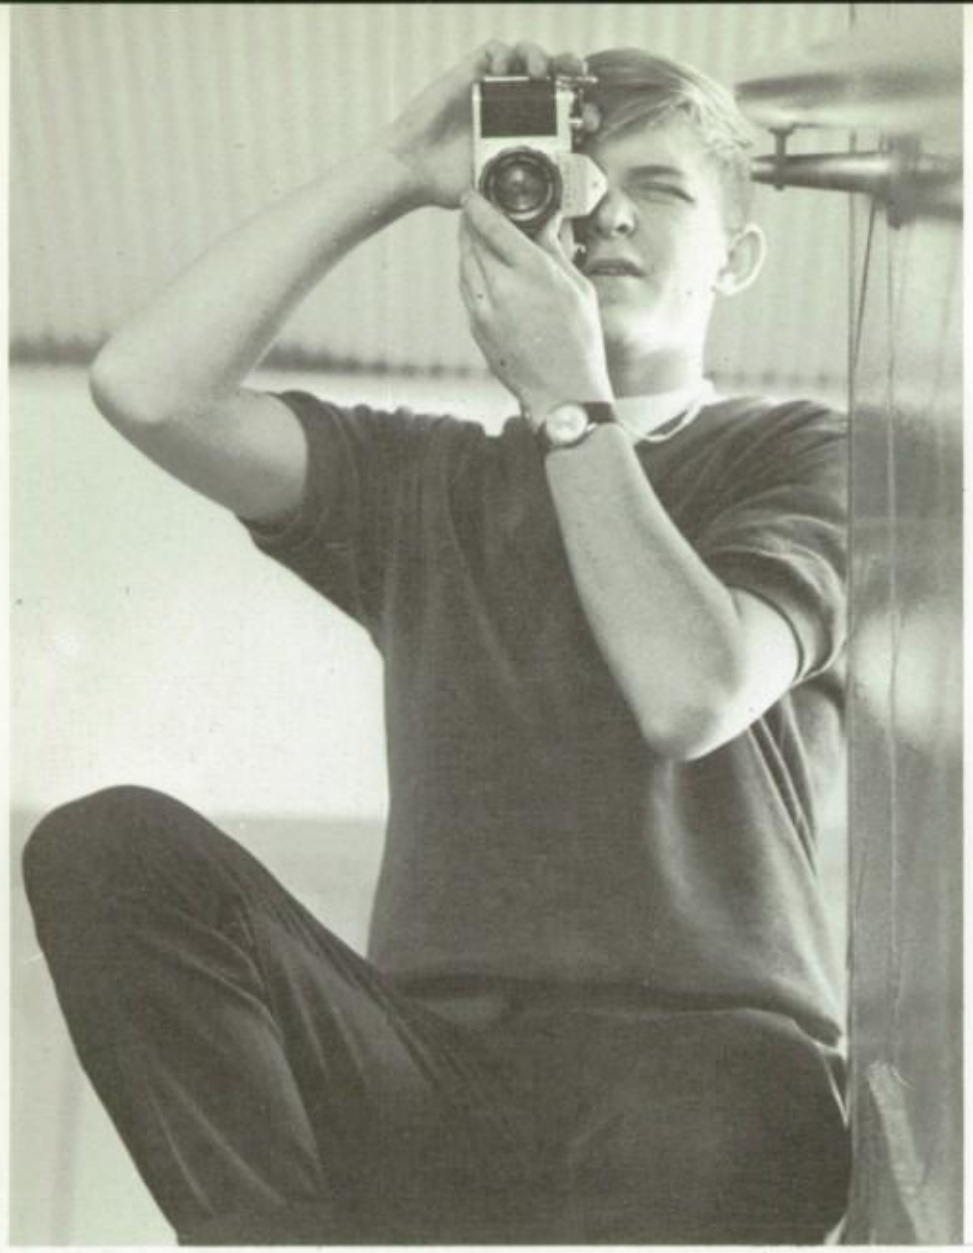
Students developed techniques along with pleasing results in the fields of painting, design, illustrating, lettering, layout work, weaving, leather tooling, wood carving, ceramics, mosaics, costume designing, and metal smithing. Courses in the history of art and art appreciation will be added next year.



"NOW that's a moot point." Veteran debaters Steve Kalmon and Terry Farmer prepare for a tournament.

SACRIFICING their favorite toys, John Kenedy and Rick Burdick use melted down model cars to create modern art designs in sculpturing class.

AUTUMN SCENES on the school campus offer Dave Bryant ample subjects for sketching.



SHOOTING Knights in action, chief photographer Jerry Geurin may be spotted at all school events. Five other photographers assisted Jerry.

Language Arts

'Instant' English 'In'; Novel Method Used

WHETHER you choose to call it instant, transformational, or common sense grammar, English teaching this year at Northwest was different.

Now termed language arts, the "new English" featured a new approach to understanding the thought processes involved in communicating ideas.

Like new math, students are not limited to problems to which the solutions are known, but it opens the door to creative thinking.

Eight students' writings, which included poems, essays, and descriptive paragraphs, were published in the Oklahoma Anthology, a publication sponsored by the Oklahoma Council of Teachers of English.

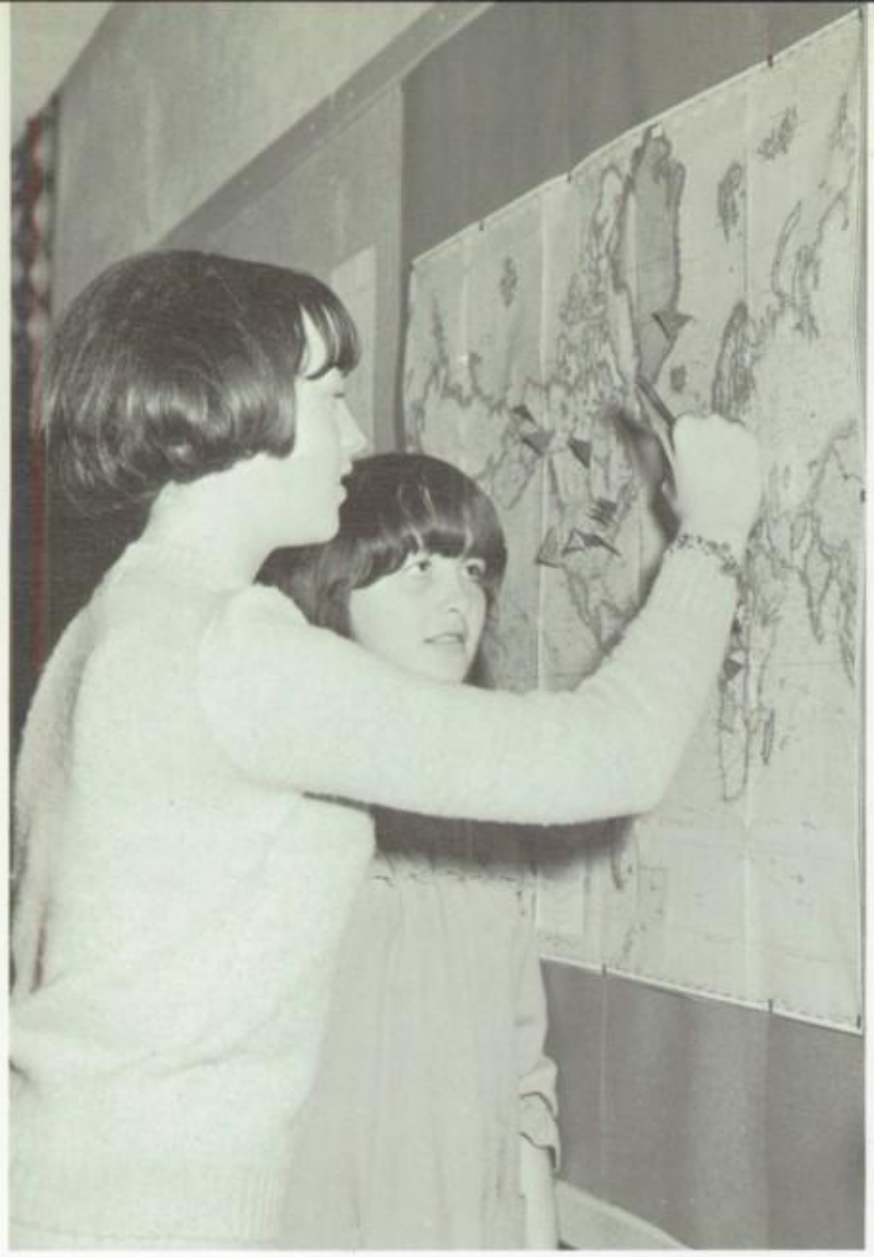
Two Northwest teachers, Miss Doris Taylor and Mrs. Yvonne Ball, served as consultants at area meetings for English teachers.

Journalists enrolled in Journalism II and III for the purpose of publishing the school paper and yearbook, respectively. Two Journalism I classes received training in the fundamentals of newswriting.

One of the most important goals of the department was to supply press releases and achieve good public relations for the school and community.

WORK on the Round Table on a holiday afternoon occupies staff members Linda Porter, Linda Choate, and Paula Collins as they sort pictures and type copy for class sections.

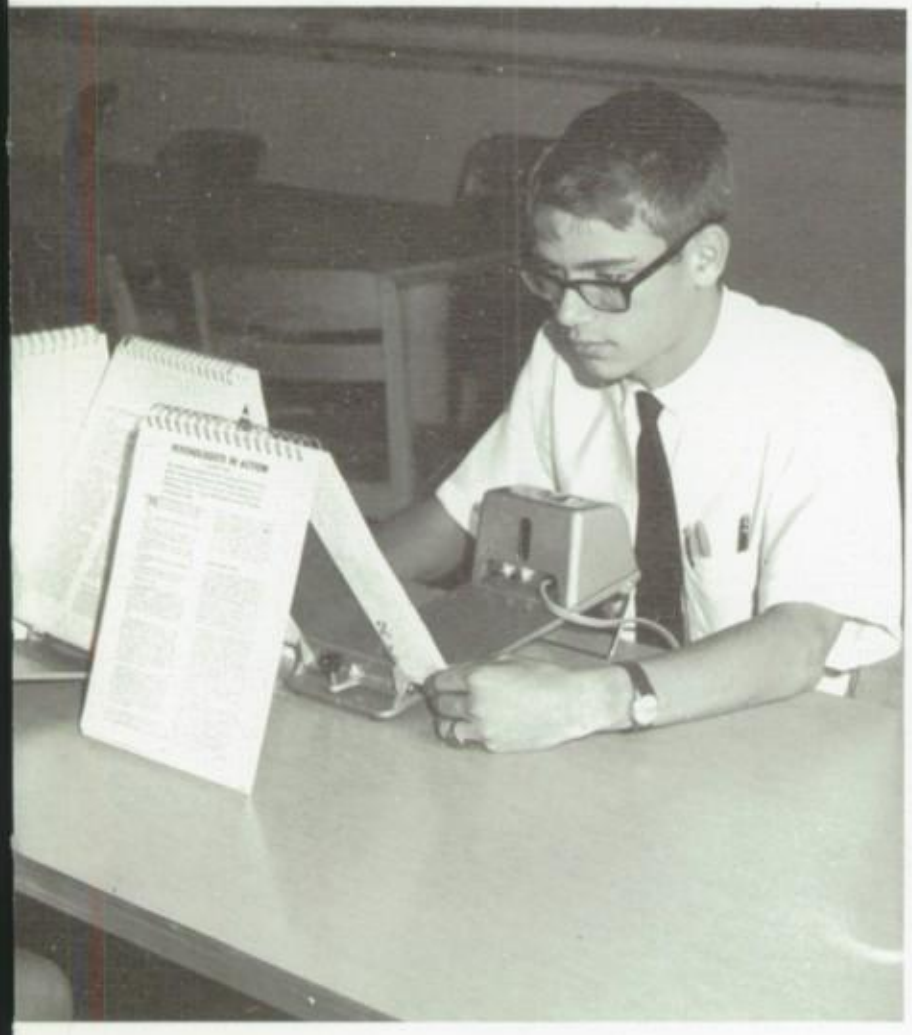
CHARTS aid the study of grammar for Debbie Davis, Deanna Bond, and Ray Mille



PENNANTS pointing out settings for books are placed on a map by Linda Lundien and Rose Matthews in Mrs. Maurine Williamson's class.

AROUND the world in English class—Miss Doris Taylor's weekly travelogues treat her students to a correlation between literature and history.

PEERING over Linda McCullough's shoulder to get a better look at an item in "Questings," Northwest's first literary-art magazine, is Jeanene Miller.



HERO of the funnies, "Charlus Fulvus", nee Charlie Brown, and his playmates, help build vocabularies the painless way for Latin students Cindy Brown and Cindy Moy.

HIS Latin lesson over for the day, Diehmy, prize winning boxer, is led by his mistress, Mrs. Janie Creekmore, from her room in Annex 7.

Languages

Listening Labs Make Communication Easy

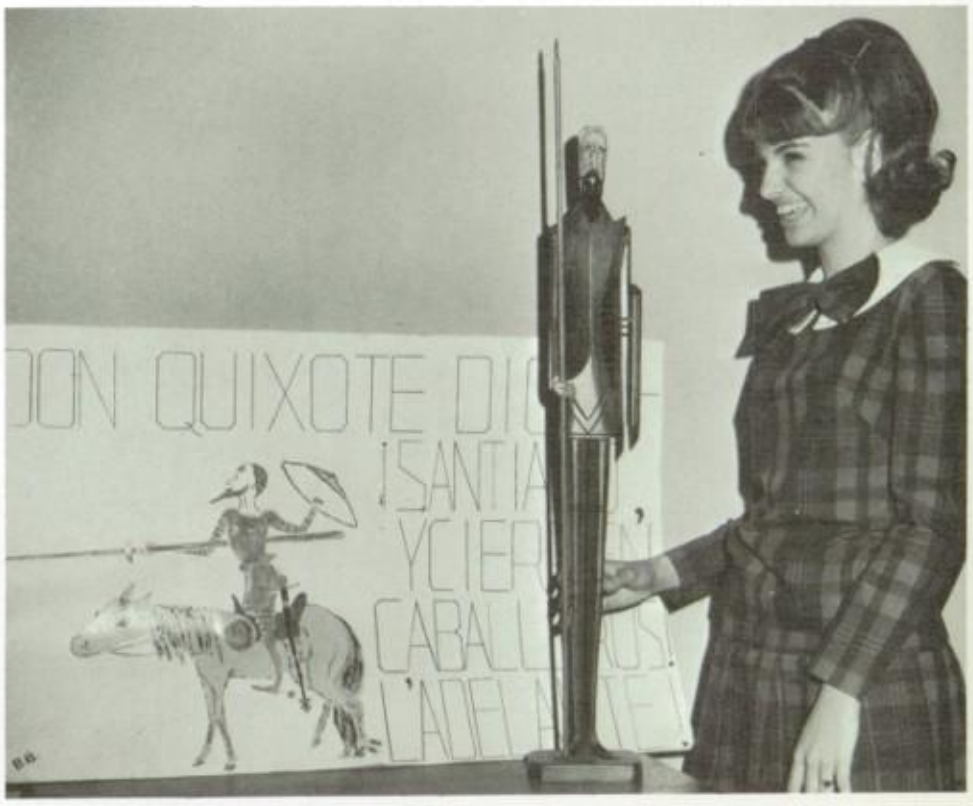
SPECIAL EMPHASIS was placed on clear communication as Northwest's nine language teachers gave students the opportunity to hear the language spoken properly in recording booths. Lessons were recorded and speech difficulties ironed out in updated laboratory methods.

Mrs. Warram and Mrs. Creekmore enlivened vocabulary drills in Latin classes with the use of comic strip characters. Mr. Marcotte's second year French classes competed with each other in volleyball games where participants were forbidden to speak English in exchanging taunts and defining rules.

First year students accomplished a basic comprehension of structure and vocabulary to be followed in the second and third years by increased reading skills, intense conversational practice, and comprehensive cultural study of the peoples involved.

In addition, all courses of study sought a level of conversational ease and a wide acquaintance with the history, peoples, attitudes, problems, and literature of the French, Spanish, German, and Latin countries.



OBJETS D'ART are used to illustrate Candy Moore's report on Don Quixote in Spanish class during the class' study of Spanish literature.

Social Studies

Skits, Demonstrations Register Broad Views

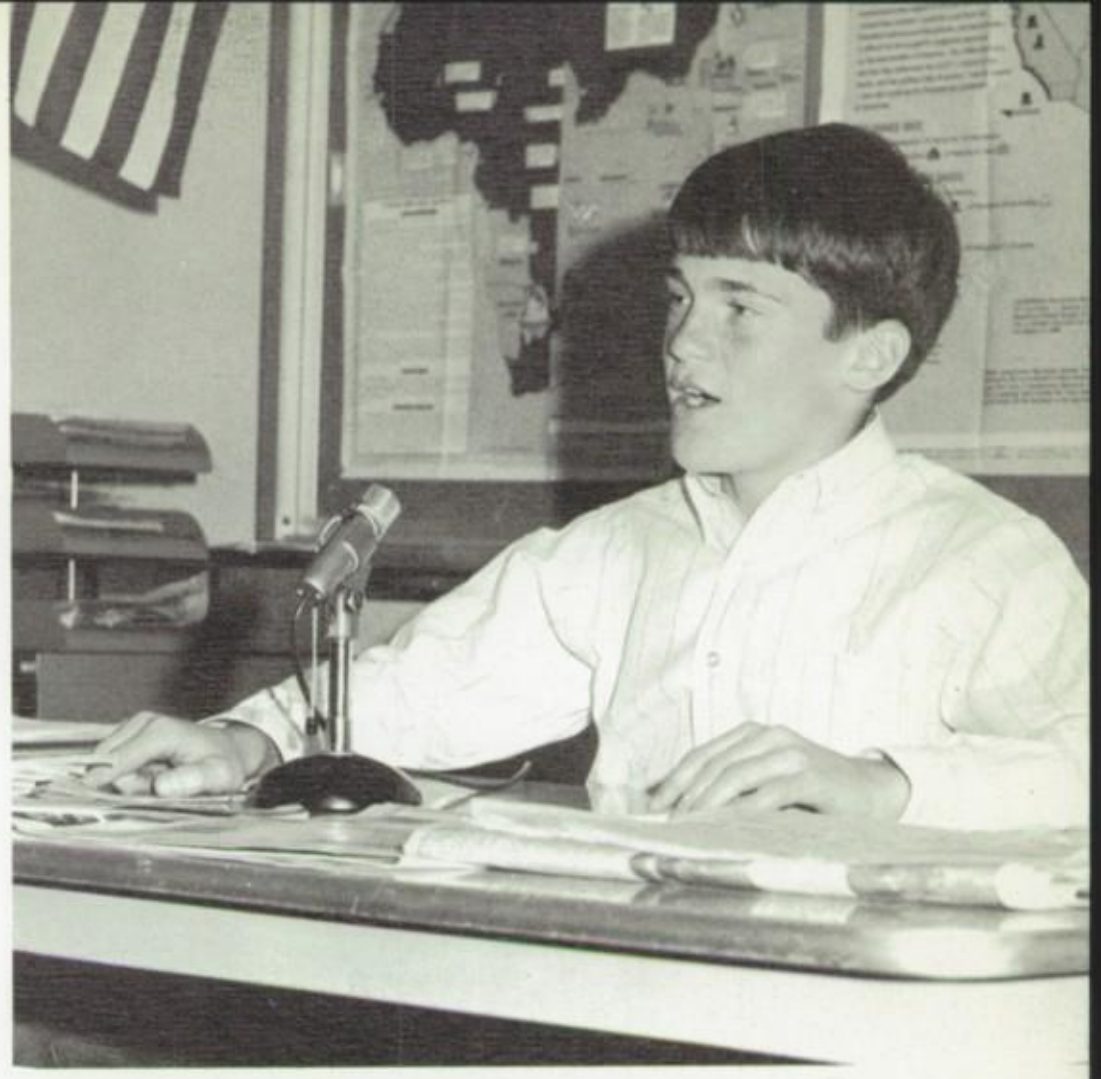
BY BECOMING more aware of the fundamental principles of democracy and the steps the American people took in choosing this form of government, students of social studies were better able to interpret the political and economic struggle of the day.

Ninth graders took Oklahoma History; sophomores were required to take U. S. History, and juniors, World History. Other courses offered were World Problems, Government, Sociology, and Psychology.

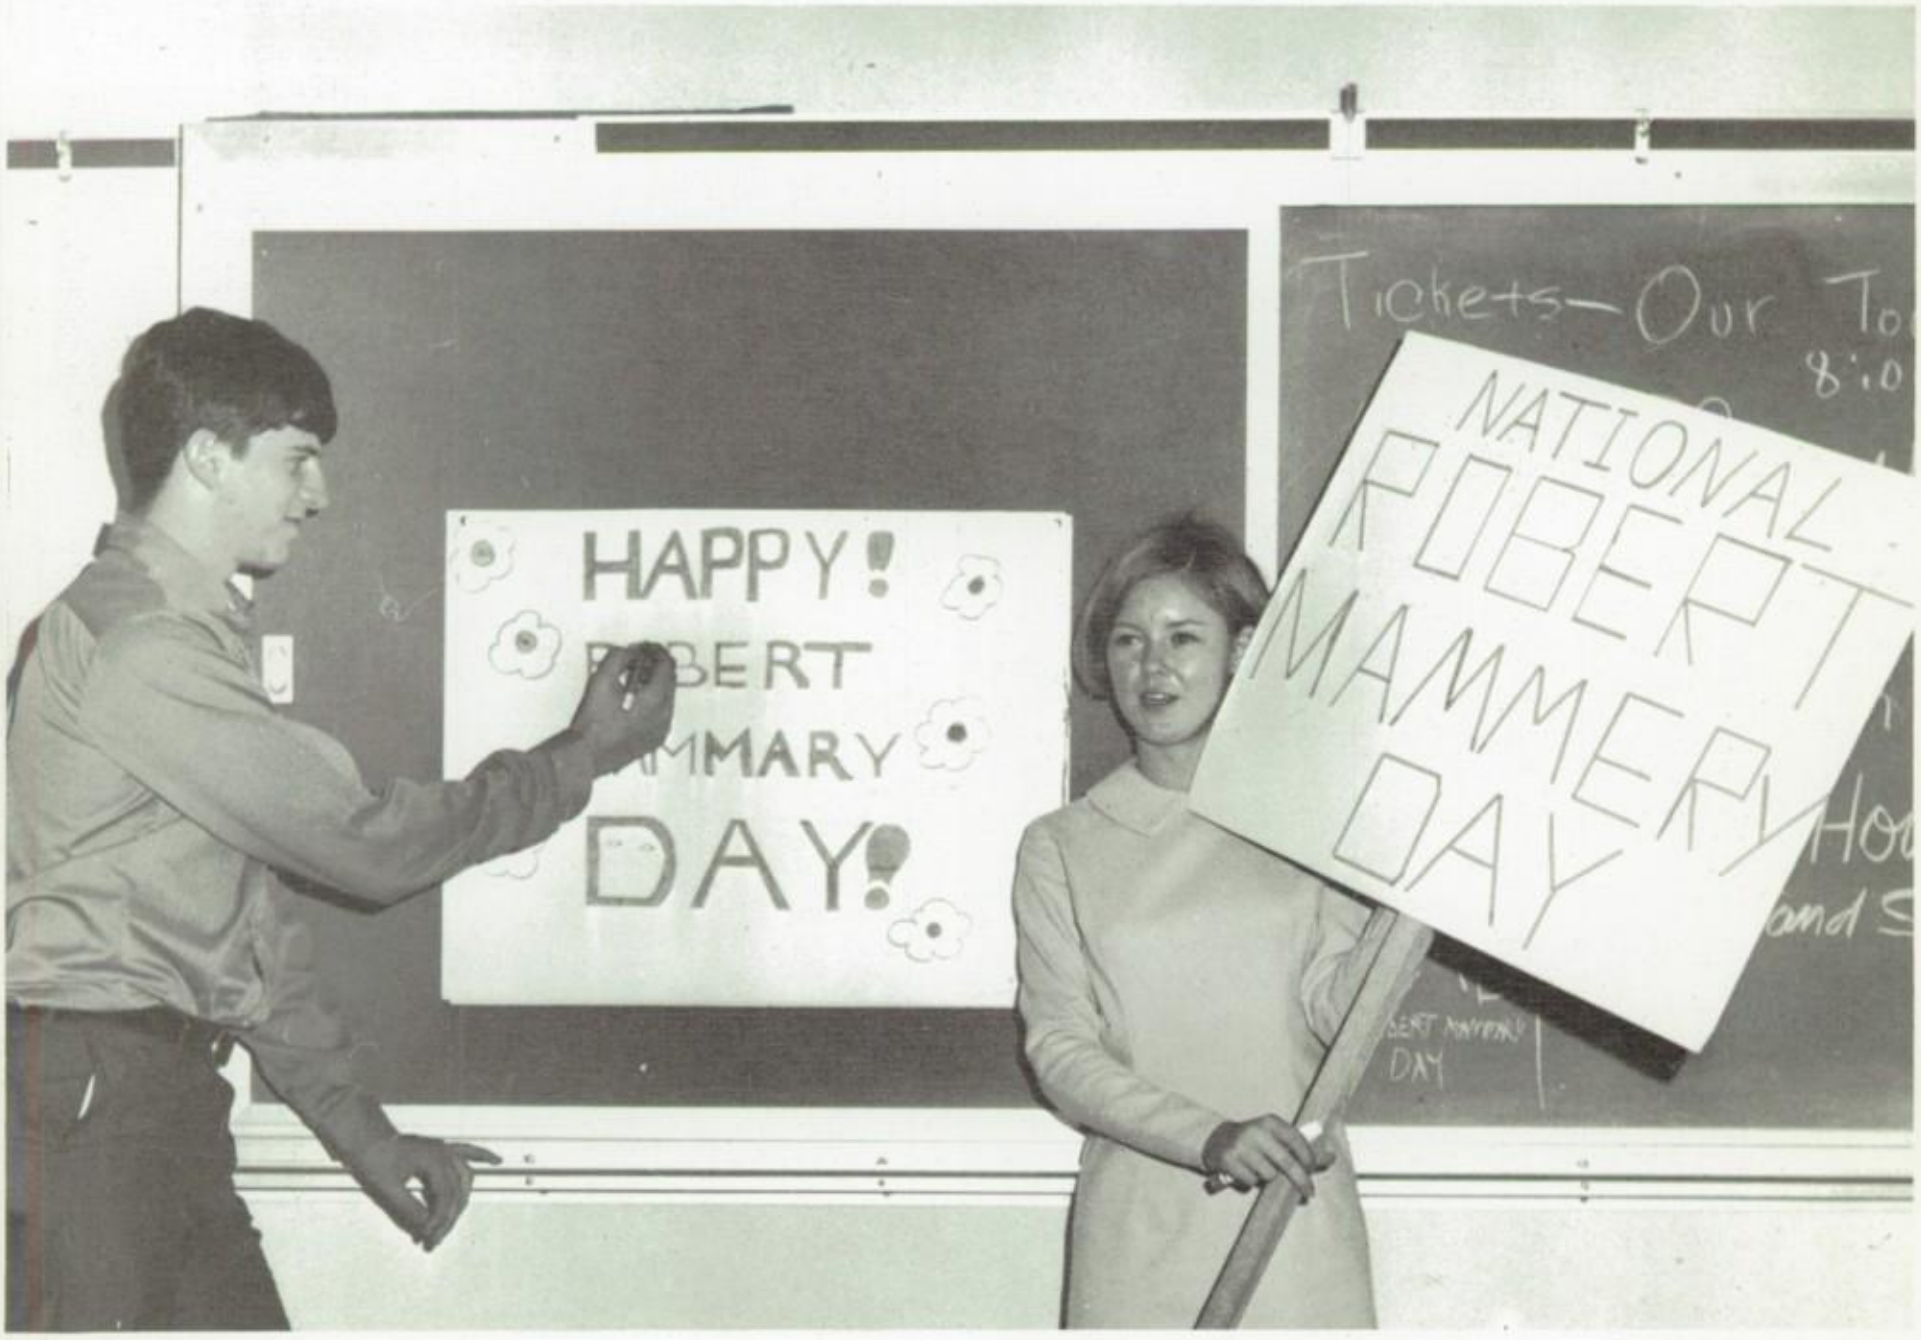
Team and television classes provided enrichment material and required expert listening and note taking.

Colorful activities lent interest to regular class routine. Mrs. Charleton's juniors staged a series of original skits illustrating high points of history in the periods being studied.

Mrs. Brinton's and Mr. Ricks' psychology classes participated in two mental health seminars, conducted by national experts, at the First Christian Church.



INTERPRETATIONS of international struggles are made more meaningful by Cliff Craig's presentation of a report to his team class in government.



AN ENDORSEMENT of independent thinking is registered by Mr. Palmer's World History students as they honor an ordinary citizen who "decided to take action with his life." Steve Miller and Sally Steele lead the class discussion and sponsor a school-wide demonstration.

IT's not world history, but Mrs. Mollie Davidson's Algebra III class with seniors Mike Shelden, Steve Savage, and Bob Elder utilizing the large globe to show how principles of mathematics encompass the universe.

ARRANGEMENTS of geometric forms by Ron Oelke and Kay Barr add interest to the math department's display window.

Mathematics

Space Age Triggers Stepped-up Programs

THE SPACE AGE has resulted in a stepped-up mathematics program implemented by Northwest's 16-member mathematics faculty.

Algebra III was offered for the first time because of college emphasis on background for the mechanics of algebra.

Systematic methods of reasoning and the necessity of "depth" comprehension were stressed in both the general and advanced courses from basic mathematics through algebra, geometry, and math analysis.

Students were made aware of the values of the subject in its everyday applications as well as being stimulated to investigate other scientific fields.

With Mrs. Davidson serving as chairman, Northwest's mathematics teachers were hosts for all state mathematics meetings during OEA convention.

Mrs. Gwen Hanger was elected president-elect of the Oklahoma City Mathematics Council.

For the fifth consecutive year the mathematics faculty boasted 100 per cent membership in the Oklahoma City, State, and National Mathematics Councils.

Curious Pry Deeply Into Universal Laws

IF it wiggles, it's biology; it if smells, it's chemistry; and if it doesn't work, it's physics—an inaccurate description of Northwest's 42 science classes.

Courses offered in general science, earth science, biology, chemistry, physics, electronics, and science seminar provided students opportunities to pry deeply into the mysteries of the universe.

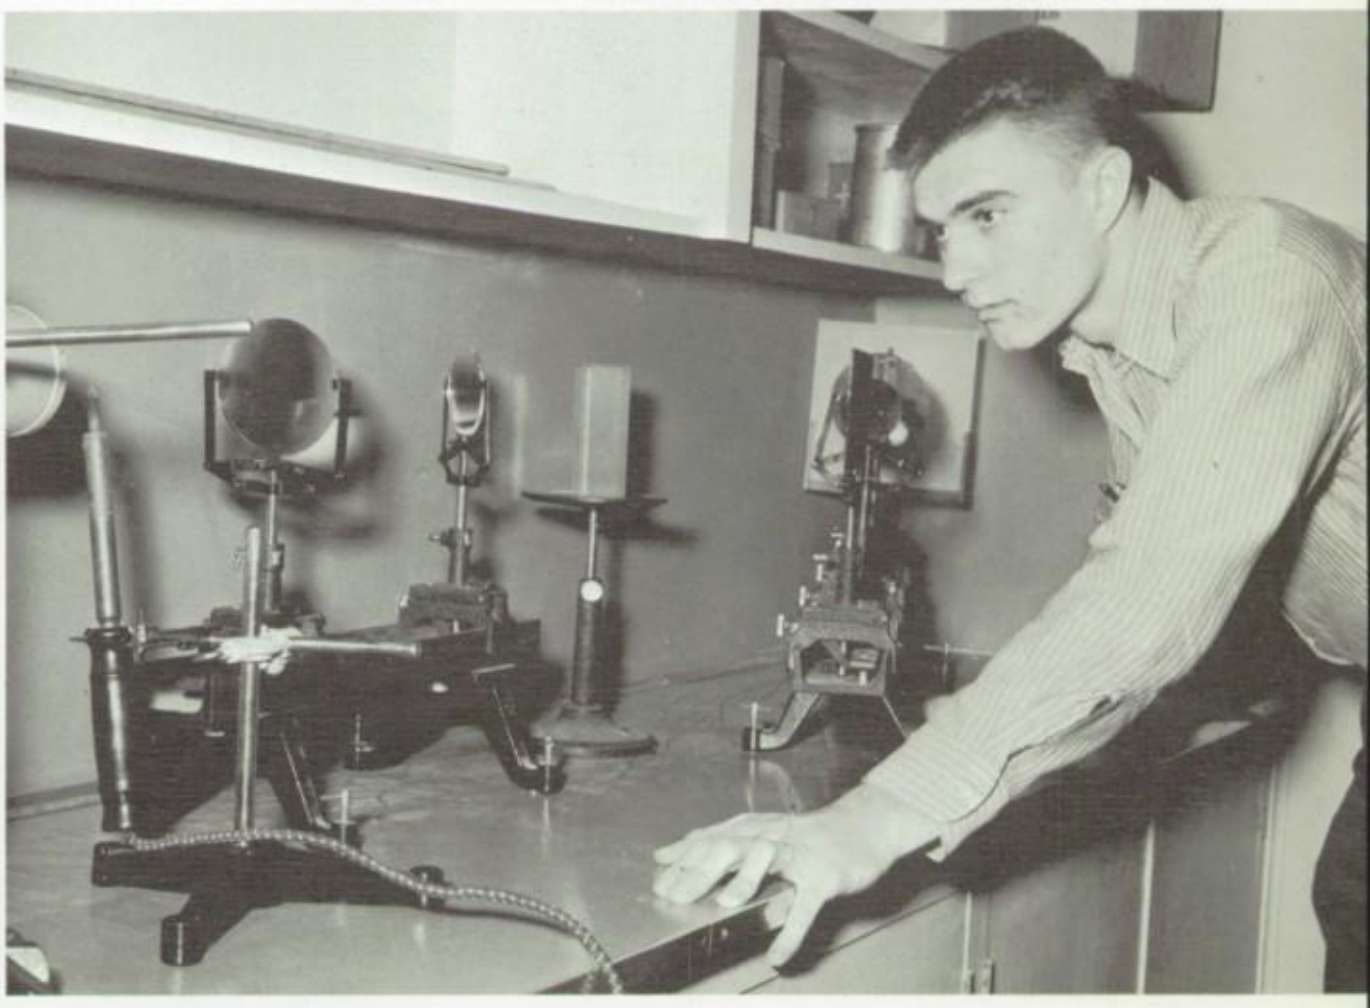
In the laboratories students could discover and prove, by themselves and for their own satisfaction, that the laws in the book actually work. And there, abstract ideas became clear through practical graphic demonstrations.

Science students took advantage of facilities outside school, often taking tours of local installations having scientific interest. The annual Science Fair stimulated out-of-class experimentation and research.

Senior Johnnie Hatchett, a member of Mrs. Bryant's Science Seminar class, distinguished himself by discovering previously unknown functions of Vitamin E when he studied under the Alexander Flemming Program at the Oklahoma Medical Research Foundation. He qualified for a special scholarship.

NO NOVELTY in the halls are slinkies from the physics department. Dale Remington uses one to demonstrate the reflection of wave pulses.

CHEMIST Barbara Berryhill investigates the composition of matter and its transformations.

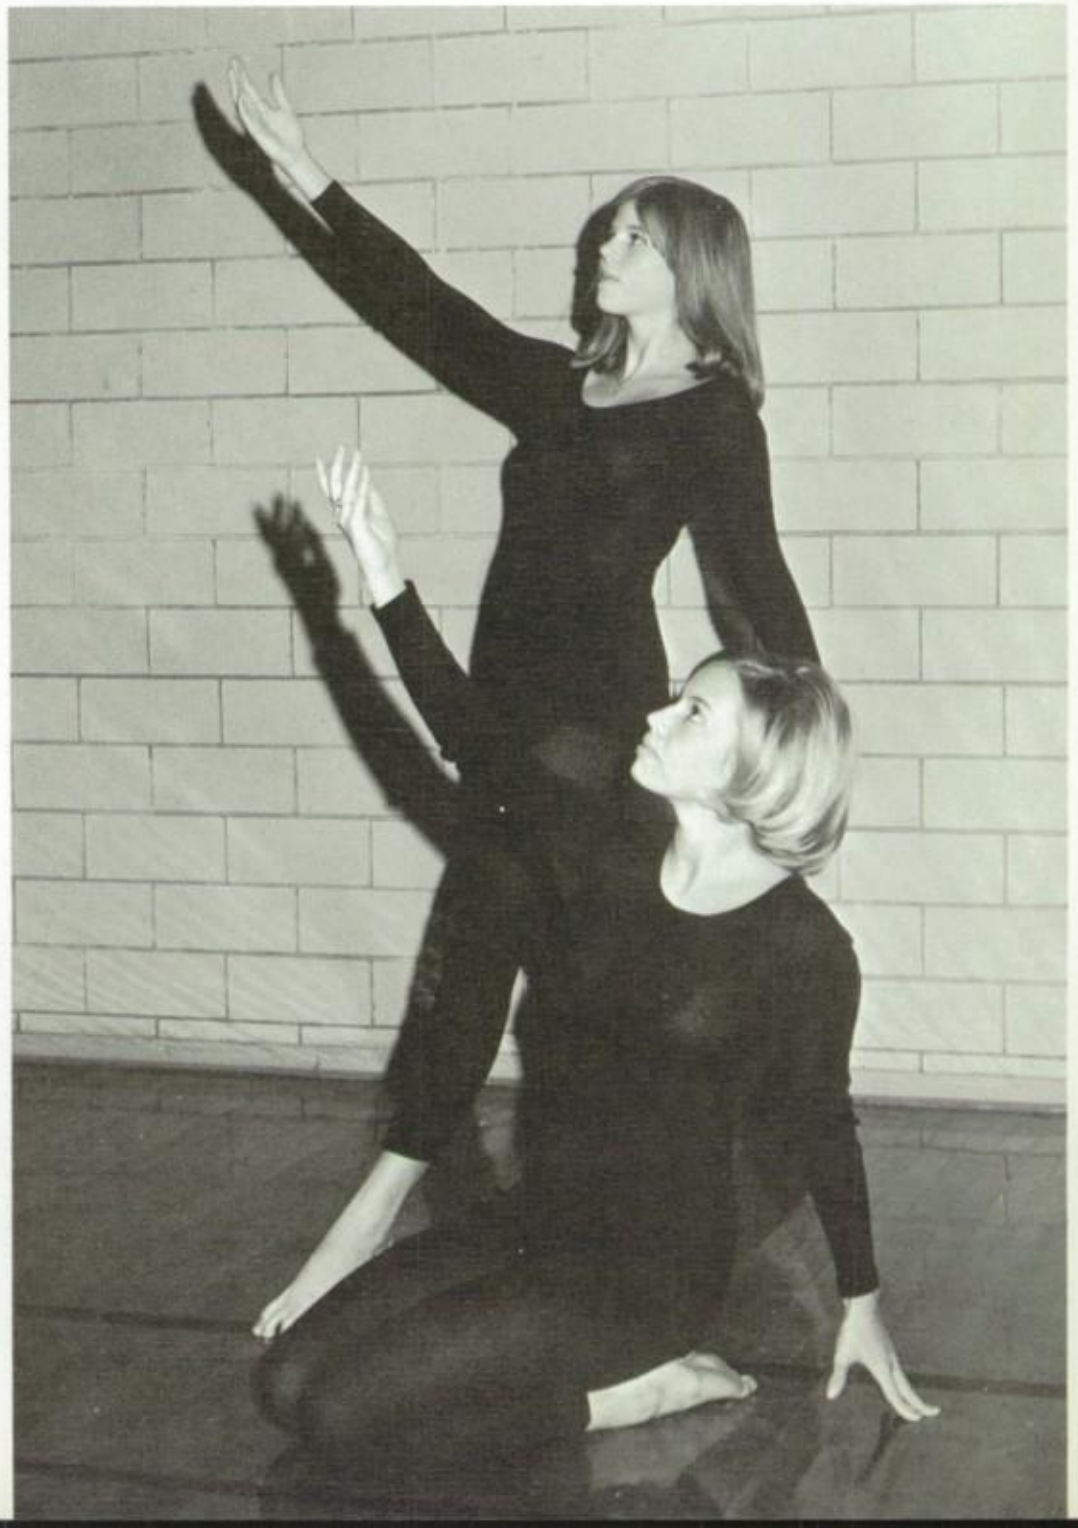


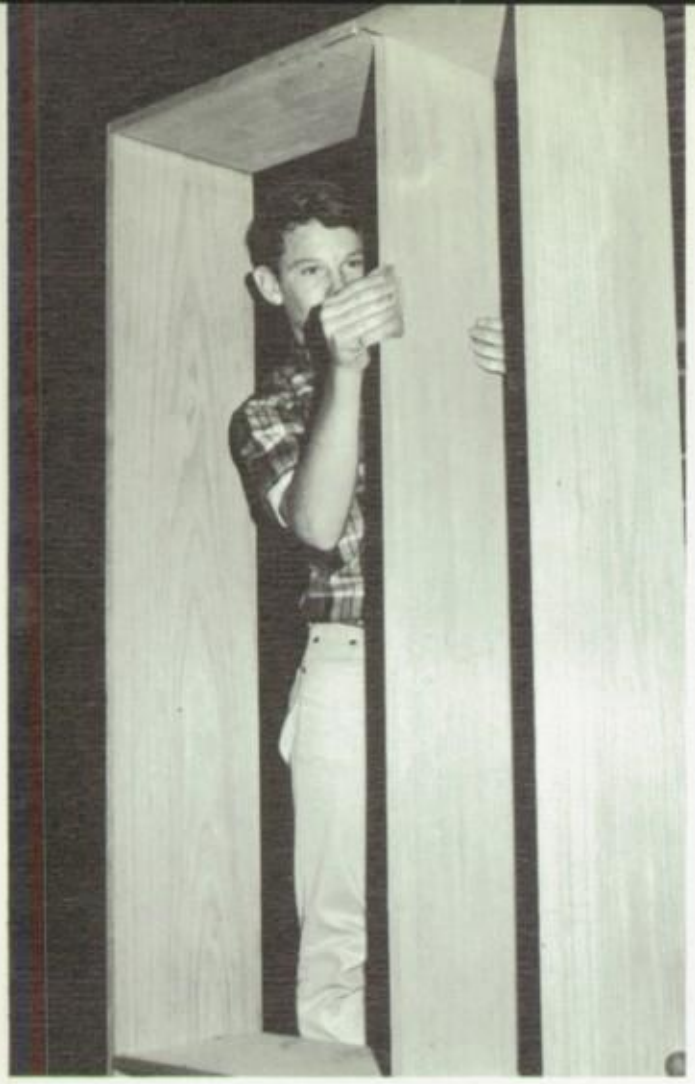
CAREFUL calculations are essential for Ramon Krosley's experiments with air compression and expansion in the Science Seminar class' independent study program connected with the course.

REACHING for a point, Sharon Rendel perfects her spiking ability in volleyball in her team sports class.

GRACE and POISE result from the techniques practiced by Marla Mercer and Cathy Cooper in modern dance classes.

"WHO wants to be next?" To provide a new sports experience, Mr. Ken Grissom teaches boxing techniques to his boys' physical education class.





"I THINK I'll use it for a surfboard." Sophomore Roger Griggs sands his woodwork project.

"WILL it run?" Senior Les Westmoreland wants to know as he checks his car's exhaust manifold in the increasingly popular auto mechanics class.

Phys. Ed, Industrial Arts

Vital Courses Supply Balance in Schedule

PURSUING diverse interests, students enrolled in such electives as industrial arts and physical education, one year of which was required for graduation.

Boys and girls in the physical education department enjoyed new sports experiences while improving health and bettering sportsmanship. Intramurals and competitive sports stressed teamwork.

Physical fitness tests were given in each class as part of a city-wide program supervised by the school system's physical education director.

The curriculum boasted peak INDUSTRIAL ARTS enrollment this year in a program of mechanical drawing, woodwork, printing, photography, auto mechanics, and architectural drawing.

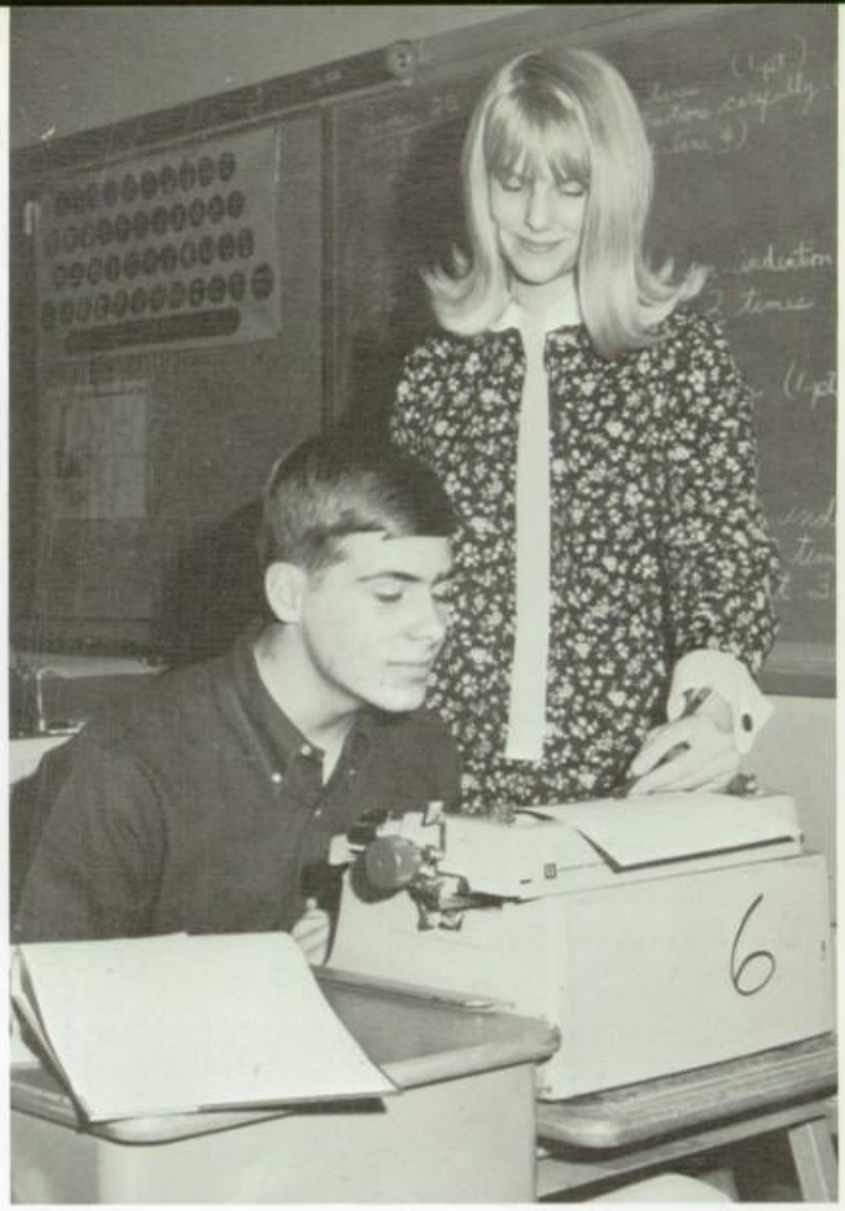
Students enrolled in VOCATIONAL EDUCATION and INDUSTRIAL ARTS had many opportunities to get "on-the-job-training" and experiment with "tools of the trade."

Courses in these departments demanded imagination, whether it was creating, building, or repairing.

Ten students journeyed across town to the new Vocational-Technical Education Center where they were enrolled for trade class one-half of every day. Seventeen trade and industrial education courses, and four technical education subjects were offered.

SUGGESTIONS from Mr. Bill Wedgeworth, mechanical drawing instructor, help Rex McCaskill put his ideas into concrete form.

DEEP CONCENTRATION is required for shorthand students using electronics equipment installed in the Business Education department this year.



"NO, KENNY, it's like this," says Freshman Gayle Buckner to Ken Bunch as she tries to help him in typing class.

"NEW-FANGLED machines can cause a girl to chew her nails," moans Linda Stratton as she searches for a problem solution in business machines class.

Business Education

Electronics Prepares for Complex World

COMPREHENSIVE courses designed to prepare students for entry into the world of complex economics were offered by the business educational department.

Training for the 1125 students enrolled in the wide variety of courses was intended to improve their clerical skills and prepare them for the conditions, needs, and possibilities of their chosen career fields.

Enrollment was increased in Mrs. Ivy Copeland's business machines classes. Thirty of her students worked under the department's clerical occupations program. In September, six IBM selectric typewriters were added to business machines' equipment. Each typewriter features different type styles.

Typing, a popular course among all students, was taken for vocational and personal use. Practical knowledge was gained in such courses as bookkeeping, business English, business law, and business machines.

New electronics laboratory equipment enabled teachers to provide more individual assistance. Overhead projectors and tapes used in teaching both shorthand and typewriting were aids in promoting individual advancement.

Talents, Skills Blend in Rewarding Classes

NO LONGER do the duties of a mother and housewife seem unimportant and monotonous.

With this in mind, approximately 550 girls enrolled in Home Nursing, Family Relations, Clothing, Foods, Home Decorating, Homemaking, and Child Care.

Course work was centered around problems of social adjustments, recreation, safety, budgets, household economics, and professional careers.

A panel of senior boys selected by girls in family relations classes conducted several discussions on teenage problems with class members submitting questions.

Girls in home decorating classes assisted teachers in planning new decor for the department's living room. Furnishings were replaced or renovated. At Christmas time classes designed centerpieces and holiday decorations.

In the spring child care classes received practical experience operating a nursery school. Toys and materials used in the project were constructed by class members.

BASIC in the study of clothing techniques is the proper use of a pattern in cutting out a dress. Judy Meriwether and Carol Sullivan follow instructions.

"I PREFER Early American," Marsha Wilson tells Lynne Strong as the senior girls choose upholstery samples used in home decorating projects.

Cosmetology, Driver's Education

Beauty Shop Course Offered Free Here

"COSMETOLOGY gives students all the advantages of a beauty school without the cost," said instructor, Mrs. Mildred Pitts, of the new class added to the curriculum this year.

Students taking the two-year, three hour a day course were graded on theory, anatomy, and study as well as a practical, professional attitude. Emphasis was placed on shop management, which must be studied 214 hours before one applies for a license.

An atmosphere similar to that of a beauty shop was maintained by the requirement that all girls wear uniforms in class. After 1000 hours of classroom training, students can be registered with the state cosmetology board which authorizes examinations for licenses.

This class was the sixth of its kind in the City school system and was started because of the great interest shown during Career Day last year.

That one must "learn to drive to stay alive" seemed to be the consensus of students as crowded DRIVERS EDUCATION classes kept three cars in motion.

"SEAT BELT fastened, key in switch, emergency brake off . . ." Carolyn Edwards ticks off driving rules to Instructor Leonard Ogle.

ADDING "lift" to Betty Bullen's hair-style is Mary Dawkins. Both girls are junior cosmetology students in the first cosmetology class to be offered at Northwest.

"FIRST PATRON jitters" are overcome as Bettye Hicks manicures Gail Shepherd's nails.

Added DE Enrollees Initiate New Projects

INCREASED enrollment in the Distributive Education department this year enabled Sponsor Jimmie Thrash to schedule more activities and projects for his students.

Class work afforded students the opportunity to learn marketing, sales, and services, supplemented by on-the-job training. This combination provided preparation for the responsibilities of employment.

Joining other school DE groups, members of the department commemorated National DECA (Distributive Education Clubs of America) Week November 6-12. Programs were presented to civic groups throughout the week.

The annual Employer-Employee dinner was held February 7 at Val Gene's where the club queen was crowned.

The State Conference was held March 6-8 at the Sheraton Hotel. Club members won honors in individual contests, such as public speaking, layouts, copy writing, show card writing, and store layout.

OFFICIAL PROCLAMATION of National DECA Week in Oklahoma City by Mayor George Shirk is witnessed by Northwest's DE officers, Jim May, president, and Chris Meek, vice president, who directed special school activities.

AGREEING that window dressing is one of the most important aspects of merchandising learned in DE class are Rick Baumberger and Pam Smock.

STUDENT COUNCIL Judicial Board members, Steve Miller, Kay Jarchow, Gary Mahagan, Mike Rogers, and Lynn McDonald conduct business.

"GO KNIGHTS!" Margaret Baxt sparks spirit.

LOYAL bandsmen provide music at all school sports events.

Challenge of Participation

Organizations

Knights interest themselves in the arts of expression, philanthropy, investigation— combining the best of social living with the joys of human experience— believing that worthwhile activities are potential adventures in learning.

"THE MEETING will please come to order." Proof that Knights are "joiners" is evidenced by the forty-nine active school clubs and organizations.

"AREN'T there any red socks?" Steve Kalmon, v. pres., asks Katie Thornton, sec. and Linda Moy, treas. The socks on the tree are given to needy children at Christmas each year.

CASTING the first vote with the new voter registration card is Council President John Musgrave.

Student Council

Council Adopts Motto Challenging Knights

APPOINTED officers Dan Eischen, chapl.; Lani Wallin and Don Marley, sgt.-at-arms; Ray Miller, student store mgr.; Mary Kutz, corres. sec.; and Debbie Finefrock, hist., meet after school for a planning session.

THE CHALLENGE TO GREATNESS—if not now . . . when? If not here . . . where? If not you . . . who? Student Council members unanimously adopted this theme for their year's program.

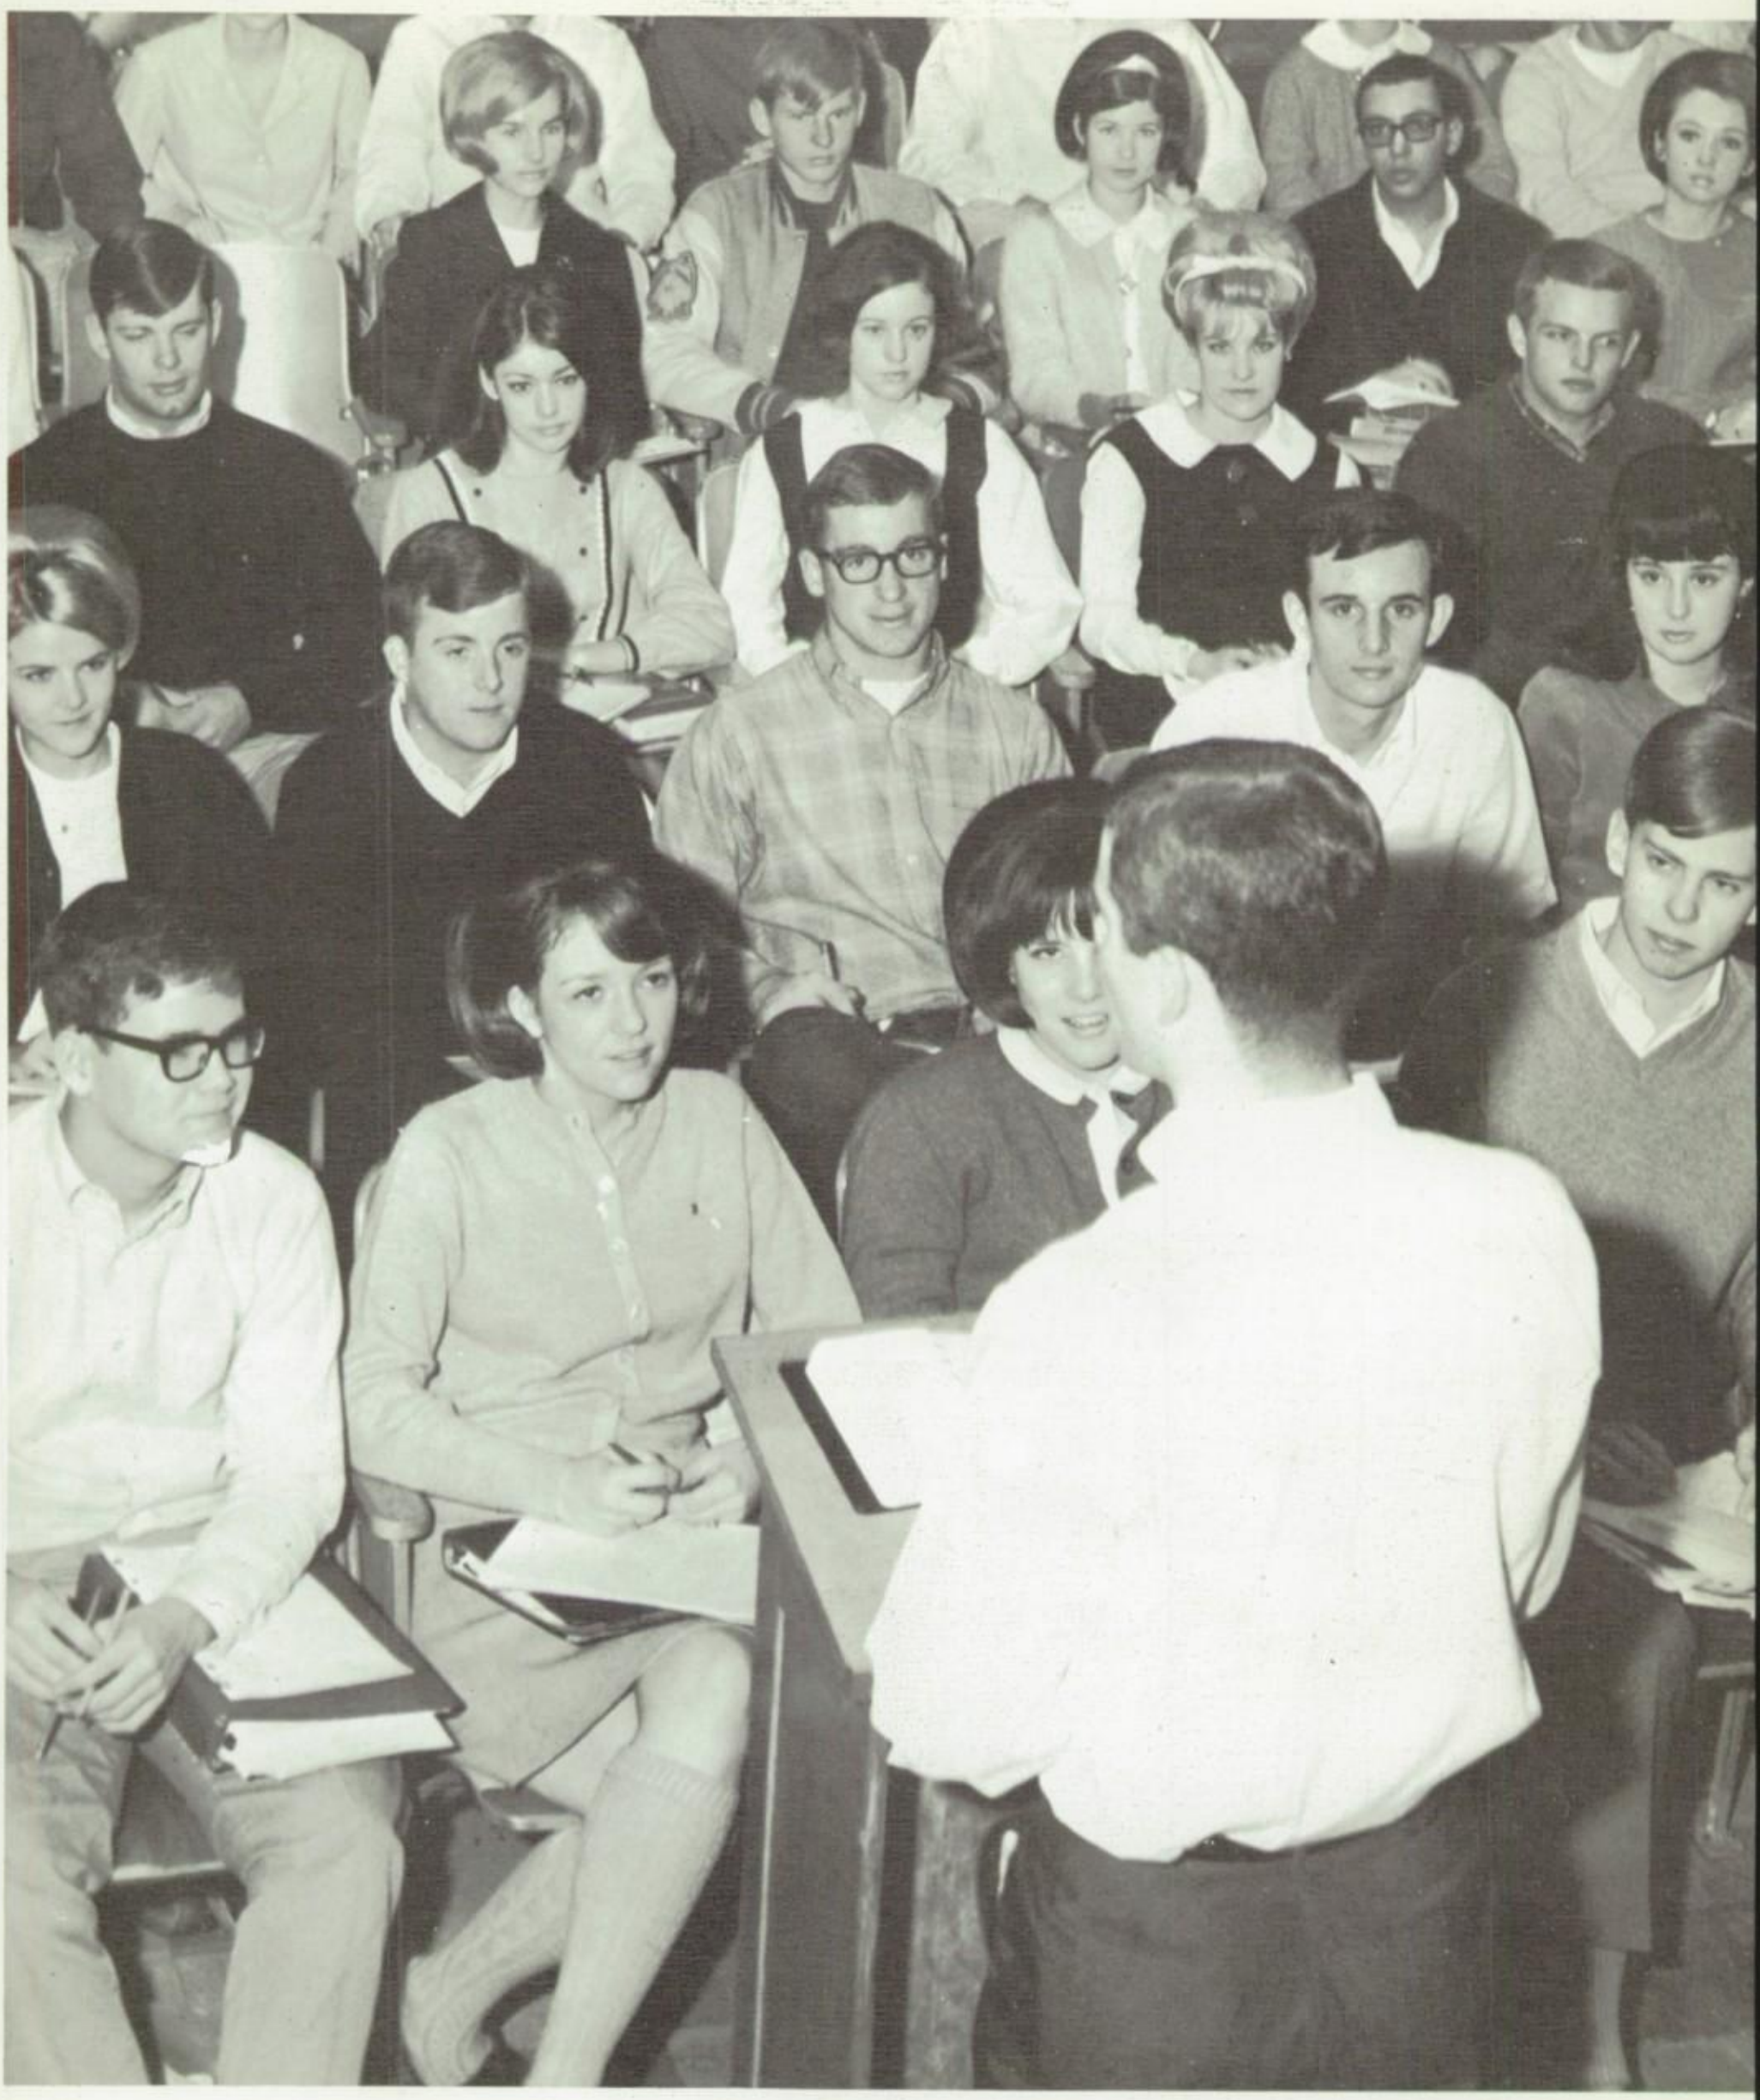
This "challenge" was also chosen by the P.T.S.A. and the Round Table for their '66-67 theme.

Each Student Council representative was assigned to one of 14 committees which planned mixers, assemblies and intramural contests, conducted elections, made spirit posters, worked in the student store and on Cupid Express and Echoes of the Knights.

In the new voting system effected this year, each student was given a voter registration card instead of an I.D. card.

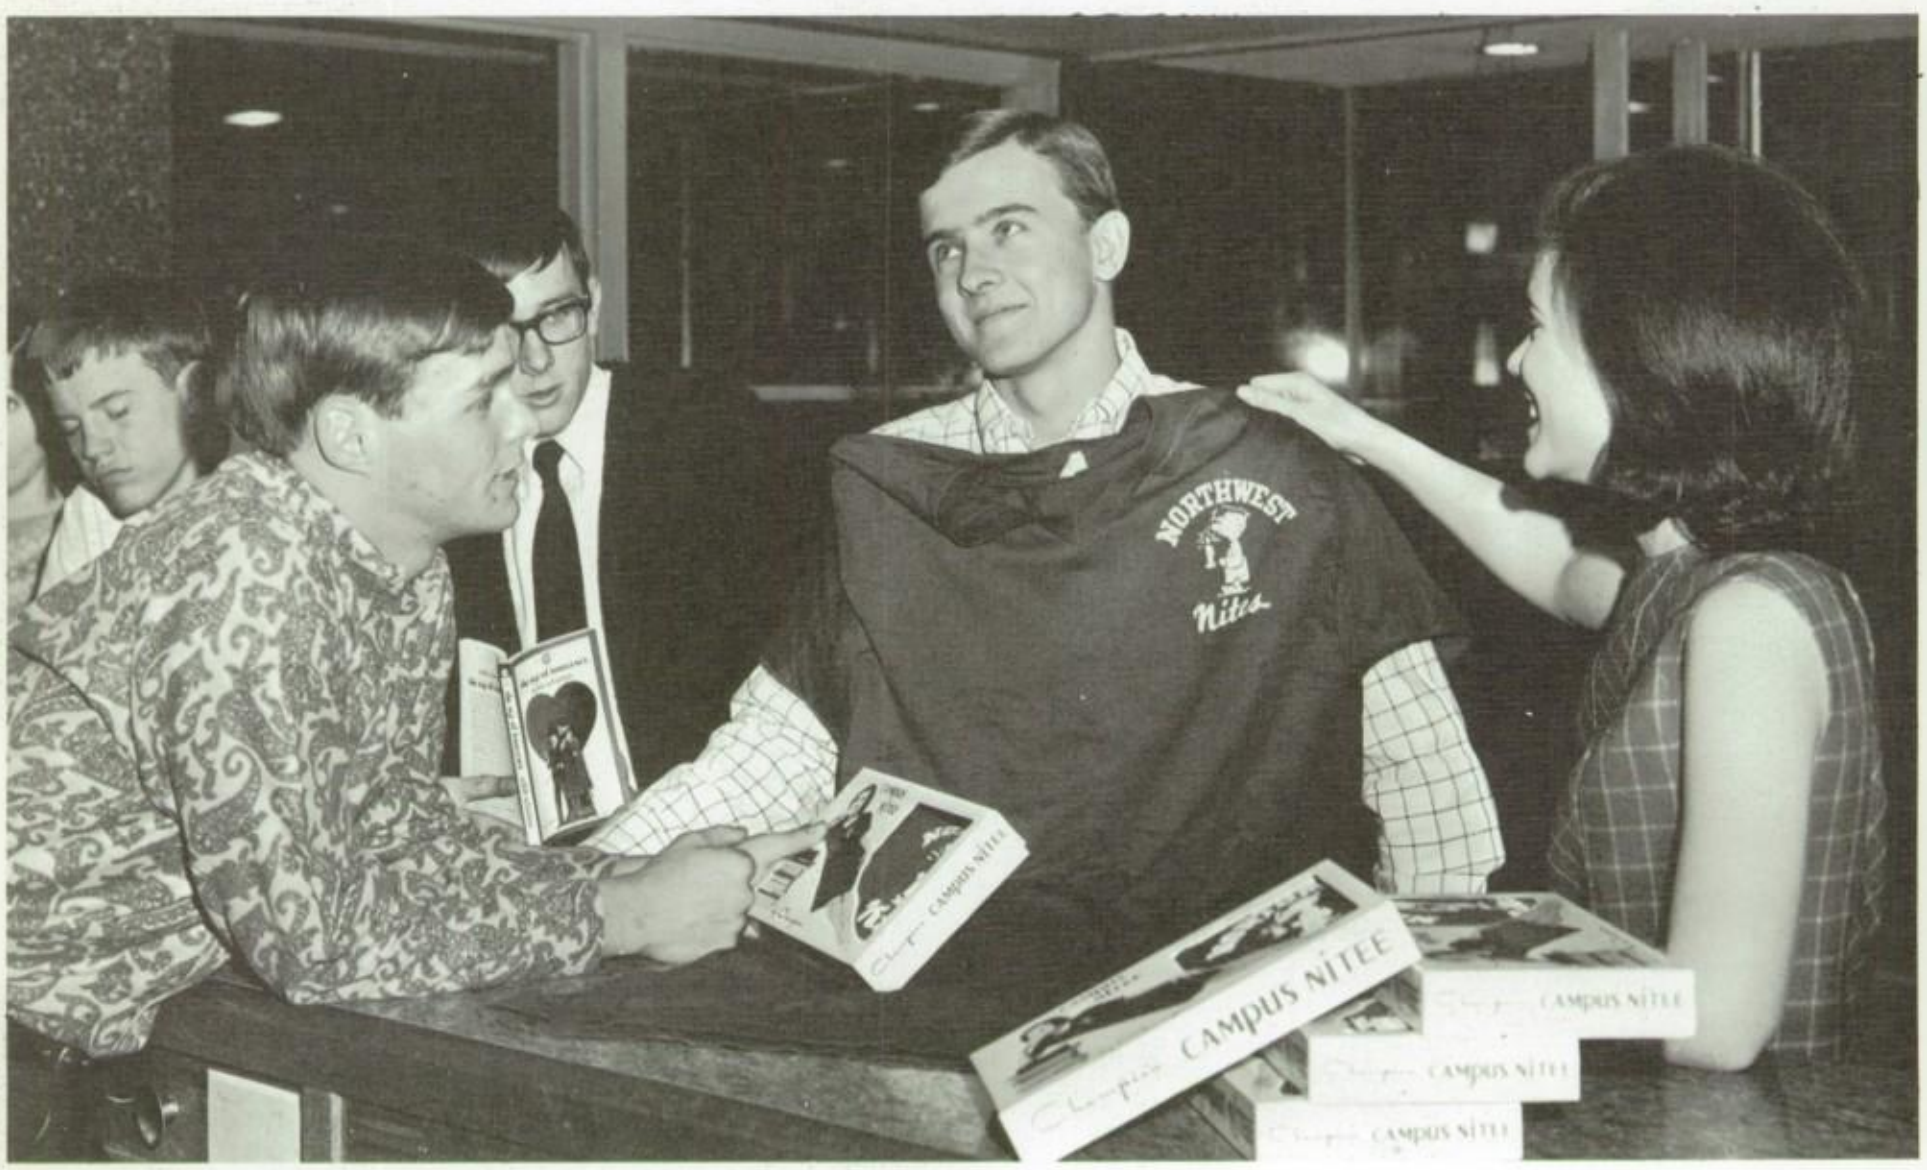
Help for the Carver School for Handicapped Children was this year's Student Council Christmas project. Gifts were provided for the school's recreational program.

Delegates participated in a Student Council workshop in Edmond and the state convention in Okmulgee. Five representatives attended Inter-City Council meetings monthly.



REINS of government for Northwest's 3,050 students are held by Council representatives, who meet daily in the Little Theater.

Knights Voice Approval of Democratic Process



SALES PITCH of student store clerks, Lloyd Carlson and Susan Hazelton, convinces customer Steve McNeill he should buy a Northwest Nitee.

NW Unit Tops State Fifth Straight Year

FOR the fifth consecutive year, Northwest's P.T.S.A. unit claimed the state's largest membership, 3,236. At the termination of the drive, P.T.S.A. sponsored a mixer for its student members.

The first event on P.T.S.A.'s calendar was the annual teacher appreciation luncheon August 25.

Two fall Open Houses, one for the parents of the 9th and 10 graders, and one for those of 11th and 12th graders, drew record breaking crowds.

This year, for the first time, the discussion panel on January 12 featured social dramas relating to teen-agers and their problems.

An estimated 500 people were involved in the planning of the Career Day Conference. Around 90 consultants presented two forty-minute sessions for interested students.

A variety of talents was presented in a show sponsored by P.T.S.A. in February. The band, Cryslers, drama, art departments, and the wrestlers participated in the program.

CONFUSED PARENTS, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Oliver, are given directions by Vicki Bowers, Courtesy Club member, at the P.T.S.A. Open House.

Honor Society, Honor Language

Top Scholars Merit NW's Highest Distinction

TOP scholars and leaders were selected for one of Northwest's highest honors, membership in the NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY.

Thirty-nine seniors, comprising the top five per cent of the senior class, were initiated October 13. In March another top five per cent of seniors and five per cent of the junior class were inducted.

Delegates Linda Moy and Steve Kalmon attended the state convention at Putnam City December 9-10 where they participated in a panel discussion on the subject "Tomorrow Is too Late", theme of the convention.

Requirement for membership in HONOR LANGUAGE was five semesters of a B-plus average in one language.

Members sponsored projects to help the American Field Service program and established a tutoring service for language students.

Honor Art, Mu Alpha Theta

Societies Assess Work, Tap NW's Top Talent

TO STIMULATE interest in mathematics and provide more activities, Northwest's Honor Math Club fulfilled requirements and affiliated with the 900 chapters of Mu Alpha Theta, international honor society for outstanding math students.

Although the national grade standard for admission is a B average, Northwest's chapter will continue to require a 3.75 for entrance, 3.5 to remain a member.

APPLICANTS for membership in National Art Honor Society submitted eight pieces of art work in three media to be judged outside the school. Thirty-five art students qualified and became members or associate members at the initiation December 1.

Junior Karen Goldman and senior Therese Cabell's cover designs were accepted for the school student directory and the Round Table, respectively.

VIEWS on modern art objects at the Oklahoma Art Center are exchanged by Janie Norfleet, Shelley Horton, and Belinda Kendall during an Honor Art Society tour.

ORIGINAL, hand-decorated Christmas cards are more fun to send, agree Society officers Ron Stoops and Lorrie Keller.

Quill and Scroll, Distributive Education

Opportunities Offered to Explore Many Fields

UNITED FLAMES symbolize the seven points of the journalist's creed as Earl Cody, Sandy Bacon, and Judy Noble initiate Terry Clark.

SINCE Northwest's chapter of Quill and Scroll was featured in the National Quill and Scroll magazine following its demonstration initiation at OU last year, members have been asked to conduct initiation ceremonies for new chapters at John Marshall and Stillwater's C. E. Donart high schools.

The annual spring dinner and initiation for sixteen new members was held April 21. To be eligible one must be an upperclassman with a B average plus a record of outstanding achievement in some phase of journalism.

Individual Quill and Scroll members achieved honors this year. Ray Miller served as president of Oklahoma City Interscholastic Press Association, and Judy Noble was vice president of the Oklahoma Interscholastic Press group. Linda Tate was OCIPA parliamentarian. Linda was correspondent for the Oklahoman and Times; Mary Daiker served as stringer for the Journal.

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION club members joined other city school DE groups for projects and programs throughout the year.

The club's annual banquet was February 7 at Val Gene's. Employers were guests of honor, and Linda Stratton was crowned queen.

Math Analysis, Great Books

Culture Groups Add Broadened Outlook

APPLICANTS for MATH ANALYSIS CLUB must have completed six semesters of mathematics with a B-plus average and submitted a favorable recommendation from a teacher in the department.

Since most club members were planning a career in engineering or a profession demanding a strong background in math, calculus and analytics were thoroughly explored.

Guest speakers from local industrial firms were invited to club meetings.

Small and large groups of GREAT BOOKS CLUB members could be spotted at most of the City's cultural activities. They attended many of the local theatrical productions, which included the Mummers' "Mademoiselle Colombe," OU's University Theatre's "Miracle Worker," and ballets and concerts in the City's new Music Hall.

Club sponsors, Mrs. Yvonne Ball and Mrs. Evelyn Findly, were hostesses for the club's annual Christmas Open House for members and alumni. Nearly 300 registered for this year's event.

FOLK SINGING, always a favorite pastime at Great Books Club parties, is led by Fred Plater who also plays the banjo for his friends.

French, German Clubs

Activities Patterned

IN its third year, LES CHEVALLIERS DU FRANCAIS added spice and originality to Northwest's club roster with a variety of activities.

One of the most popular and unusual bake sales was repeated this year by the French club. They sold French Yule Logs, cakes containing 32 layers made from a French recipe.

Proceeds from their sale helped finance their Mardi Gras celebration February 22. They again joined with the Putnam City French Club for this party which was held in Northwest's social center. The two schools alternate as hosts for this annual event.

GERMAN CLUB meetings featured films and discussions by people who had recently traveled in Germany. Sandy Coggins, senior, showed slides she took last summer when she was one of six Girl Scouts in the nation to be chosen for a summer institute in Switzerland.

During November, French Club members joined the German Club for a trip to Tulsa to see the opera Hansel and Gretel.

The two groups combined with the Spanish Club for an International Christmas party. Each club was responsible for entertainment and decorations symbolic of the country represented.

IN ITS SECOND year, the SPANISH CLUB, Hispaño-americano, launched several new projects.

Highlight of the year's activities was the club trip to Mexico City during the one-week spring break. Club members joined other City Spanish Club groups on the sight seeing tour which included visiting the pyramids and attending a folk-lore ballet.

Throughout the year bake sales and other fund raising projects were sponsored to help finance the club's train trip.

Spanish, French and German Clubs combined for an International Christmas party featuring games and decorations typical of the three countries represented. Each club was responsible for contributing ideas and favors to add to the "international flavor."

JUNIOR CLASSICAL LEAGUE members were represented at the National Convention in Kentucky by five delegates. Judy Edmondson served as secretary of the Oklahoma State chapter of JCL. New members were feted in September with a picnic at Will Rogers park.

The annual Roman banquet, usually held in the spring, took place November 14. Cara Roblyer and Gary Fair won prizes for the best costumes. Members competed in state contests, consisting of grammar, vocabulary, derivatives, Roman life and history.

READY to bid for a slave at the Roman banquet is Patrĭcian Jim Larimore.

Specialists Gain Skill In Technical Fields

SCHOOL TECHNICIANS developed skill in specialties and increased their scientific knowledge in the SCIENCE, RADIO and ELECTRONICS CLUBS.

The Electronics Club, consisting of 23 members, met every other Monday for meetings and Tuesday night for laboratory experiments. Some of the boys participated in an extra theory class where they studied the code of electronics. They received their technician's license upon successful completion of the course.

Radio Club acquired a new transmitter which doubled the power and value of the station, the only one of its kind in a city school. Interest was shown by radio hams around the city through their donation of microphones and station accessories.

To foster increased interest in the school and city Science Fair, the Science Club offered $100 to be divided among the students requesting aid to finance Fair projects. Members went on field trips, listened to guest speakers and pursued their interest in science.

Future Engineers

Career Plans Point to Need for Chapter

ASPIRING architects and engineers were granted a charter for FUTURE ENGINEERS CLUB in November under the direction of Mr. Fred Holloway, mechanical drawing instructor.

"Intense interest in the engineering section of Career Day prompted us to organize our Chapter of Future Engineers," said Mr. Holloway. Some 56 students evidenced concern for engineering and related fields when they signed to meet with the engineering consultant at the annual PTSA sponsored Career Day.

Both boys and girls are eligible for membership, the only requirement being that they plan to continue in a field of engineering after high school.

During the year, club members visited engineering laboratories on several college campuses. Local engineering firms which offer scholarship opportunities sent representatives to club meetings to explain their program and to discuss trends in engineering.

A banquet at the end of the year in the Patrician room at O'Mealey's capped activities for the year.

Advisories Participate In Service Projects

EACH of Northwest's 100 advisories was represented in the two monthly meetings of the HIGH SCHOOL RED CROSS. With proceeds from the two doughnut sales held during the year, enrollment cards for all students were secured and a contribution was made to the International Red Cross Children's Fund.

Jean Simmons, chapter president, modeled in a style show sponsored by the Oklahoma County Red Cross Council.

Red Cross members furnished and decorated Christmas trees at the Veterans Administration and Children's Memorial Hospitals. A group of members visited homebound students regularly. They took copies of The Shield to them and helped them keep in touch with school activities throughout the year.

Each Saturday a number of volunteer workers reported to various hospitals and convalescent homes to help with patients.

COMBINING service with personal growth and recreation, Hi-Y boys furthered their Christian goals and understandings.

Under the direction of the YMCA, boys attended area conferences, state prelegislative conference in Stillwater, and the State Youth in Government legislature at the State Capitol.

Forty-four Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y members chartered a bus for the trip to the annual State Convention at Lake Murray in November. Northwest's delegation participated in discussion groups on capital punishment and the need for sex education in schools.

The boys worked one weekend in the spring in helping to ready Camp Classen, a YMCA camp, for opening.

Competent Delegates Stress Reform Bills

MORE bills were submitted by Northwest's Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y delegation to the Youth in Government Legislature than had ever been presented by this school before.

Forty-six boys and girls attended prelegislative sessions in Stillwater February 18 armed with 500 mimeographed copies of their proposed bills for distribution in manuals to various committees ruling out bills not considered proper for submitting later at Youth Legislature.

Four bills were accepted by committees: Joe Blackburn's bill proposing to increase the age of compulsory education from the eighth to twelfth grade, Terri Howard's bill to lower legal voting age to 18 and another proposal to place controls on public availability of firearms, and Harla Hamilton's bill recommending more informative presentation of government theories be implemented in high school curriculum.

More than fifty Northwest students participated in the State Youth in Government legislature April 7-9, giving speeches and meeting with committees.

During the spring break, a group of Hi-Y boys went surfing in Galveston and visited the space center in Houston. Plans for a summer outing at Lake Texhoma for both Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y clubs were finalized.

PAUSING to discuss Youth Legislature with Mr. Dennis Simpson, sponsor, is Oklahoma's new chief executive, Governor Dewey Bartlett.

PART of Northwest's delegation is briefed by Sponsor Dennis Simpson prior to the group's participation in State Youth Legislature in April.

Similar Aims Flavor Speakers' Endeavors

"THE APPLAUSE, delight, and wonder of the stage" have all been experienced by the members of Troupe 316, National Thespians. Dedicated actors, staff and crew members, and directors were rewarded by recognition in the international society.

NATIONAL FORENSIC LEAGUERS sponsored a novice Invitational Tournament which attracted more than two hundred participants.

All phases of the event, from invitations and room scheduling to purchasing trophies and "being perfect hosts," were carried on efficiently by NFL members and drama students.

Debaters also journeyed to nine tournaments where they swept top honors. Competing with more than 1800 contestants in the Bellaire Tournament in Houston, Texas, in October, Northwest won first in cross-examination debate for the second year.

Before being accepted in the ANNOUNCERS CLUB, applicants were auditioned carefully before a club committee. All Central Sound student announcements were made by club members.

Band Girls, Symphony Hi-Notes

Promotions Bolster School Music Program

COORDINATING activities of the Band and Orchestra is the main purpose of BAND GIRLS. Girls decorated for the coronation of the band queen, and were in charge of publicity for concerts.

They worked closely with SYMPHONY HI-NOTES, who were affiliated with the city-wide organization for teenage music lovers.

Members worked for the Symphony Subscription Drive in October and ushered at Symphony concerts.

Both clubs sold tickets to school and civic musical events and helped catalogue and file music, checked on uniforms and instruments. Members attended Band Parents' meetings.

Late Ruling Curtails Daily PA Devotional

IN SEPTEMBER the State's Attorney General ruled prayers in public schools were held unconstitutional by a Supreme Court ruling.

A Shield poll of Northwest students indicated an overwhelming majority of students disapproved of the ruling. But YOUTH OF THE KINGDOM club members were forced to cease most of their activities since the club was organized to promote religious activities in school by giving morning devotionals over Central Sound and at sports events and to hold chapel each Wednesday morning at 7:45.

After the ruling was made, club members substituted a "thought for the day" over Central Sound for the former Bible reading.

JUNIOR DELEGATES to the WORLD finalized plans initiated two years ago to adopt an orphan. Profits of the school Book Fairs, held twice this year, contributed to the $800 required from the government program handling the adoption.

Students and teachers who traveled abroad last summer were guest speakers at regular meetings.

Publications Provide Image of Northwest

PATTERNED after the "School-as-a-City" approach to producing newspapers, THE SHIELD served as a link in interpreting and communicating every aspect of school life to the students and community. Stringers supplied the metropolitan press with school news. The ROUND TABLE also played an important role in providing an image of Northwest.

To maintain the highest awards attainable for high school publications, members of the publications staffs were found at all hours in room 172 combining efforts to meet approaching deadlines.

This year both publications held the Medalist rating of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, while the ROUND TABLE won for the second year the All-American rating given by the National Scholastic Press Association. Both publications have received "Highest Honors" in state competition the last four years.

Twelve staff members journeyed to Chicago Thanksgiving for the NSPA convention.

KEY CLUB, an international organization composed of boys who have distinguished themselves as leaders, consisted of outstanding sophomore, junior, and senior boys.

Directed by Mr. Ted Nichols and Mr. Larry Mott, the number of club service projects was doubled from that of previous years. Projects included collecting for United Appeal, ringing bells for the Salvation Army at Christmas, serving as hosts on Career Day, registering cars, and selling mums for Homecoming.

New members were honored at the annual breakfast September 23 at Trade Winds Motel.

Assistance Provided by Gracious Group

FULFILLING their purpose of service to the school, Courtesy Club members served as hostesses for Freshman Orientation, PTSA Open Houses, OEA meetings, and Career Day. Members also served refreshments at faculty meetings.

A record number of 128 pledges was initiated into the club in September.

Once again, Courtesy Club worked closely with Key Club in community projects and combined efforts for special events. The two clubs helped with the United Appeal Drive, OEA meetings, and Career Day. Courtesy Club girls also ushered for the Ice Capades, 89'ers baseball games, rodeo, and sold confetti at home football games.

October 1, Courtesy Club and Key Club held a picnic at Will Rogers Park. Club girls modeled for their mothers and friends at their traditional Mother and Daughter Tea December 9. The annual Courtesy Club Masquerade Ball was January 21 at the Homebuilders Building.

Supervising club activities were Mrs. Mollie Mae Davidson, head sponsor; Mrs. Susan McGee, Mrs. Janie Calhoun, Mrs. Lois Clark, and Mrs. Jean Krows.

"NOW all you need is Batman!" exclaims Melissa Maddox, treasurer of Courtesy Club as she examines Marsha Wilson, vice president, in her Robin costume. # Dedicated Choristers Gain National Fame

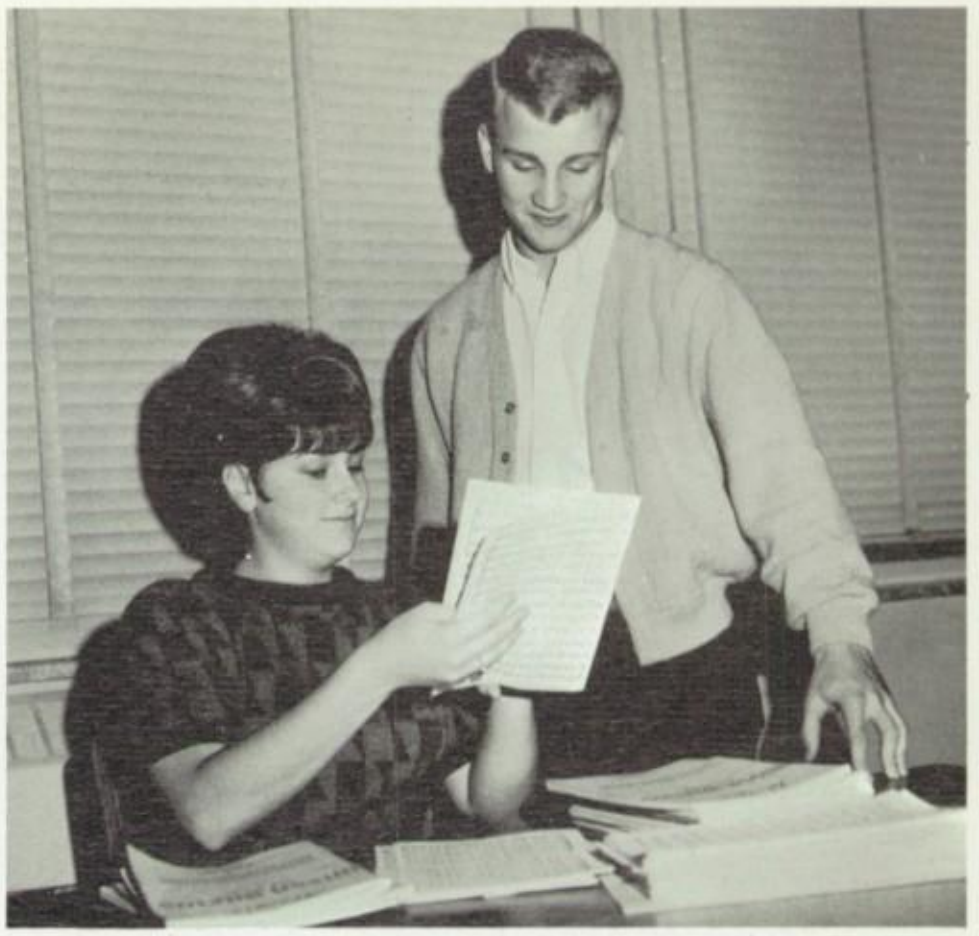
WHAT makes room 171 different from any other classroom? "It is the atmosphere," said Cry-slur Roy Mote, "that is present everywhere in this room and influences most of our outside activities."

This influence has produced remarkable results for individual vocalists as well as for choral groups.

Following Cry-slurs' concerts in New York last June, tape of their performance was selected for inclusion in a program piped to all fifty states and thirty-five foreign countries.

"One of the best in the nation" was the description given of Cry-Slurs by Dr. Douglas McEwin, clinician who rated choirs at the Oklahoma State University Choral Festival December 9. He used the honor chorus for a demonstration closing the clinic.

New uniforms were acquired by the Girls Chorus before the fall and spring school concerts. Balanced programs, consisting of traditional classics, ballads, folk-songs and selections from popular modern musicals, were presented.



"BET I'll never be able to reach this note," Rene Pitt tells Riley Cleaver as they check out new music to the fifty-seven Cry-Slurs.

Wide Repertoire Sets Performance Patterns

QUALITY of presentation blended the outstanding band and orchestral accomplishments of the 1966-67 season.

In November the two groups presented the first of two formal night concerts for parents and friends. The December concert was highlighted by the coronation of the Band Queen, chosen by band and orchestra members.

Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter assemblies were made more meaningful with the addition of accompaniment and solo numbers. Bandsmen journeyed to the Enid football game where they appeared in halftime ceremonies.

Six instrumentalists from Northwest won berths in the All-State Band and Orchestra at the University of Oklahoma in January. Twenty-one Northwest musicians were chosen for the All-City Choral festival and five instrumentalists auditioned and were accepted by the Oklahoma City Junior Symphony.

Wonderland Created; Accent Is on Nature

A REGULAR Sherwood Forest, complete with fountains, bridge and flowers, was created by Coronets for their annual basketball banquet March 11 at Val Gene's in Shepherd Mall.

With the theme "Wonderland by Knights" carried out in program and decorations, Coach Don Van Pool was pictured in the overhanging moon while basketball boys were featured as stars. Nameplates adorned miniature flower pots. Cathy Pate, second semester president, emceed the show. Special numbers and skits spoofing basketball players were presented.

Coach Van Pool presented players with their letters, and dates joined members for the dance following the banquet.

Coronets joined with Cygnets for a special halftime show at the Homecoming game. They presented capers at pep assemblies and filled three buses for the trip to the Enid football game.

Club sponsors were Mrs. Nellie Ecton, (head sponsor), Mrs. Mollie Mae Davidson, Mrs. Linda Moore.

Lancers—Falcons

Boys Contribute Aid To Traditional Events

SINCE NORTHWEST'S opening twelve years ago, Lancers and Falcons have contributed their support to all Knightland activities.

Boys sold advertising for athletic programs last August, sold programs at games, and provided entertainment at pep rallies.

First event on both clubs' calendars was "duc" season, when new members participated in a three-week initiation period.

Gary Gilson was chosen Lancer "Duc of the Year" for outstanding performance as a pledge.

Combining talents, boys presented a pep rally skit to launch basketball season. A spoof of the upcoming game with Midwest City was featured. Club presidents introduced their queen candidates.

Lancers romped to a 20-8 victory in the annual Lancer-Falcon football game December 10 on the Knights' practice field avenging last year's loss. Tony Noe scored twice for the Lancers.

Annual Christmas formals were highlighted by the coronation of club queens. The Tivoli Inn was the spot selected by Lancers for their December 17 dance, while the Huckins was the choice of the Falcons.

LANCER EMBLEM is admired at the club Christmas dance by Queen Sue Burghart, Max Luper, Perry Duncan, and Ann Elliott.

Pep Banquet Motif — 1001 Arabian Knights

"1001 Arabian Knights" was the theme of the annual dinner-dance honoring the football team December 5 at Val Gene's in Shepherd Mall.

Professional football player, Quarterback Don Trull of the Houston Oilers, was guest speaker. He talked about the four D's (Desire, Dedication, Discipline, Discouragement), a formula for successful living.

Coaches presented players with their letters, and dates joined members for another first at Northwest —a dance on Monday night. A conflict on the school calendar necessitated the shift of the regular Saturday night event.

Cygnets worked since last June to raise money to finance their banquet. Garage sales, bake sales, rummage sales were among the money-making projects.

The first week of school Cygnets honored their 165 new members with an ice cream social on the school patio. Old members brought homemade ice cream.

In addition to supporting all Knight teams, Cygnets participated in service projects, ushered at the Fairgrounds Arena and the theater. They cooperated with other pep clubs in presenting pep assembly skits, and filled three buses for the trip to the Enid game.

GATHERING at Shepherd's Mall to decorate for the annual Cygnet banquet honoring the football players are officers (top) Gloria Lundien, president; Karen Kincaid, vice president; Cathy Davis, secretary; Sherry Eagin, assistant secretary; Janie Phillips, treasurer; and Merlynn Salathiel, assistant treasurer.

Girls Polish, Perfect Cheering Techniques

ONE HUNDRED-FIFTY girls interested in learning techniques of cheerleading and crowd control met every other Monday under the direction of school cheerleaders.

They were taught acrobatics, hand springs, and the techniques of presenting cheers by the seven cheerleaders who won first place for the seventh straight year at the August cheerleading clinic at OU and first place for the sixth year in a row in state competition last fall.

One of the most important Court Jester events was the selection of B and C squad cheerleaders. Applicants tried out before the club and were graded and selected by cheerleaders. Three girls and an alternate were chosen for each team. Class representatives were picked from each of the four classes.

Club members cooperated with other groups in presenting skits for pep rallies. They led chants in the halls before school on mornings of games.

At the beginning of each sports season, girls presented players toys symbolizing the sport as the boys were introduced at pep assemblies.

Committees Compile New Poster Policies

COORDINATING the efforts of the pep clubs in establishing and maintaining school spirit and good sportsmanship was the purpose of the Pep Council.

Membership consisted of voting delegates: pep club presidents, their head sponsors, and spirit chairman of Student Council; non-voting members: editor of athletic program, 'O' Club president, head cheerleader, representative from each sport, and a representative from each of the four pep clubs.

After considerable discussion, Pep Council committee members compiled a new list of rules for spirit poster policies. Objectionable posters were banned, and new restrictions placed on approval regulations.

Members of the Council composed the committee which compiled the school athletic programs. Separate groups worked on various sports sections.

Responsibility for checking the format for pep rallies and assemblies was delegated to the Council. Following these events there was careful evaluation and recommendations for changes by members.

New cheerleading uniforms and proposed cheers were screened and approved by the Council before being introduced to the student body.

"PIN the Pirates!" Pep Council members Bob Tester, Marsha Wilson, and Elaine Claunch put finishing touches on a spirit poster before the Putnam City game.

POISED for the start of a practice relay race, Knight mermaids listen for the coach's whistle.

Explosive Grid Squad

SPORTING the third best season in school history, Northwest gridmen, under the direction of new Coach Dean Choate, posted a 7-2-1 season and tied Midwest City for second place in Mid-State Conference ratings.

Halfback Steve Choate led State Class AAA in scoring with 19 touchdowns and a total of 116 points while breaking the school scoring record. He was named Conference and City "Back of the Year" by sportswriters and coaches.

Led by Choate, who scored three touchdowns and a conversion, Northwest launched its season by soundly trouncing Del City 50-0, avenging last year's loss.

The following week Capitol Hill was stopped by the Knights 14-0 as Aubrey Harper and Choate scored touchdowns. Harper's scamper was a 78-yard dash

The Knight defense was then scored upon for the first time in the season as Harding was routed 41-7.

The state's number-one game of the week against arch-rival Midwest City resulted in a 6-6 tie. Harper scored once again, this time on a 10-yard jaunt around left end. The Bomber's try for an extra point was blocked on a surge by Earl Cody and Jim Grasley.

After being upset by John Marshall the last three seasons, Northwest obtained revenge by romping over the Bears 43-0. Halfback Choate scored on runs of 42, 1, and 20 yards, and Harper tallied on rollout scampers of three and four yards. The first Knight score was set up on a fumble recovery by Mack McGuire. # High Scoring 'Bees' Double Foes' Points

B AND C-SQUAD teams lost only two games each as the Junior Varsity posted a 9-2 win-loss season, and the Little Knights raced to the City Junior High championship with an 8-2 record.

Accumulating 232 points to their opponents' 106 count, Coach Wilson Wilhite's B-team won decisive victories over Central, Harding, and John Marshall.

Leading the Knights' charge were juniors Butch Held and Curtis Shepard; anchoring the line were juniors Jim Baker, David Clark, and Dan Huskey. Defensive standouts were Bob Irwin, Jim French, and Mark Kent.

Despite dropping their opening and closing games, the C-squad, coached by Tom Erwin and Rusty Palmer, finished ahead of all other City junior high teams, scoring 256 points to their opponents' 58.

Top scorers Steve Harris and Kreg Blair, eighth graders, boosted their totals with two touchdowns apiece in the 40-12 rout over Classen.

The offensive line was led by Gary Finley and Kent Loeffler. Defensive standouts were Harry Curtis, Ed Murar, Greg Brand, and Jack Rowten.

IN the second win of the season over John Marshall, end Jim Baker (85) snags a pass from Quarterback Paul Rosenberg in the Knights' 26-8 victory over John Marshall.

City Champs Snap NW Winning Streak

COACH REX IRWIN's harriers climaxed the season by finishing second in the city race behind U.S. Grant. The Knights ended the season with a 3-2 dual record and placed second in their only triangular meet.

Sweeping their first three duals of the year against Putnam City, John Marshall and Capitol Hill, the leather-lungers' winning streak was snapped at eight by Grant, 30-25.

In Mid-State Conference action, Jim Perkins and Ken Vrooman paced the Knight delegation by finishing the two-mile in 9:44, breaking the school record, with Perkins a step ahead of Vrooman. Northwest finished third behind Grant and Enid as the Plainsmen's Ronnie Majors placed first with a time of 9:22 over the Fairgrounds' course.

The Knights trailed the Generals in their attempt to gain the city trophy for the second year in a row, 27-65, as Vrooman finished sixth in 10:36.

With approximately 70 entrants entered in the Class AA competition at the Oklahoma Baptist University meet, Perkins led the Knights by covering the three miles in 17:04. The team finished second among the city schools that were running.

Earning letters were Perkins, Vrooman, Steve McNeill, Buddy Trummer, David Rose, Dan Browning, Steve Flynn, Marty Schnetzler, Mike Riddles, John Bell and Mike Lovegrove.

TEAM strategy is discussed by Coach Rex Irwin before the upcoming State Meet.

HARRIERS get off to a fast start against Capitol Hill.

Knights Number-Two in Conference Roster

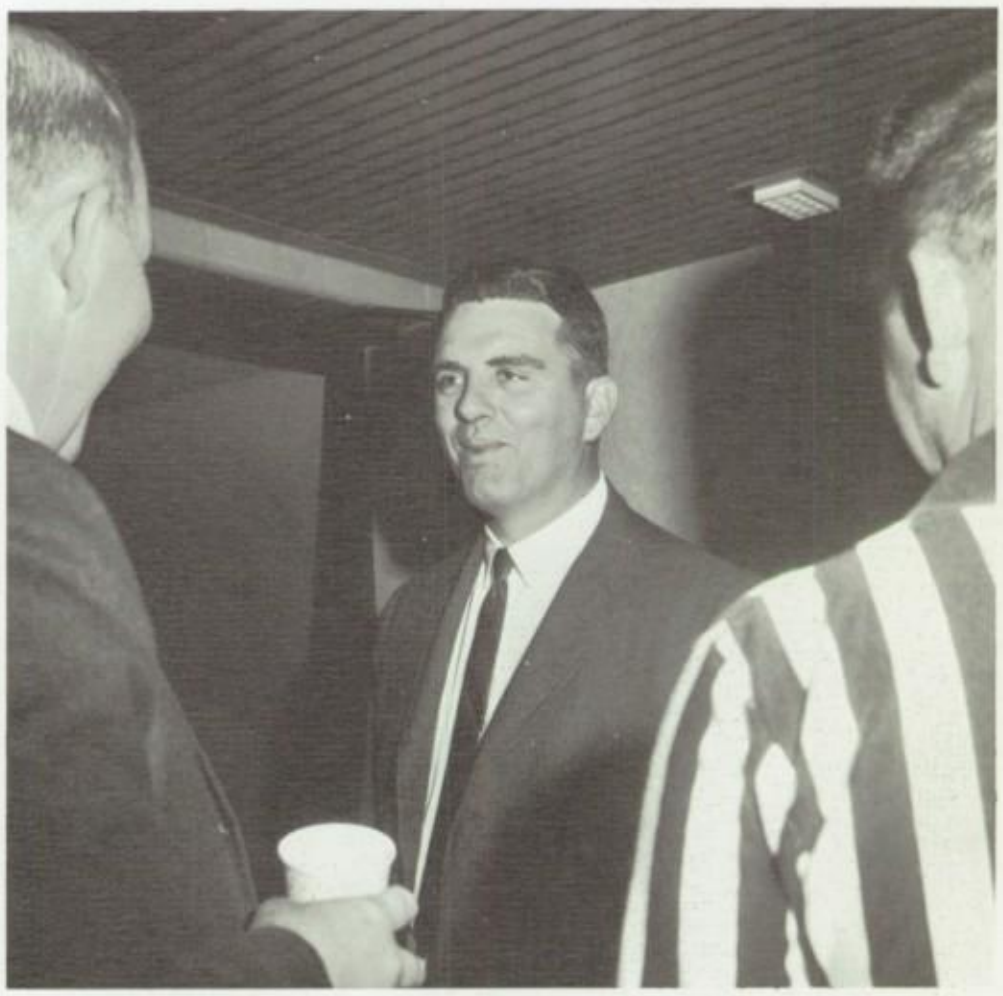
PLACING SECOND in conference action for the third time in the past four years, the cagers ended their campaign with a 16-5 record.

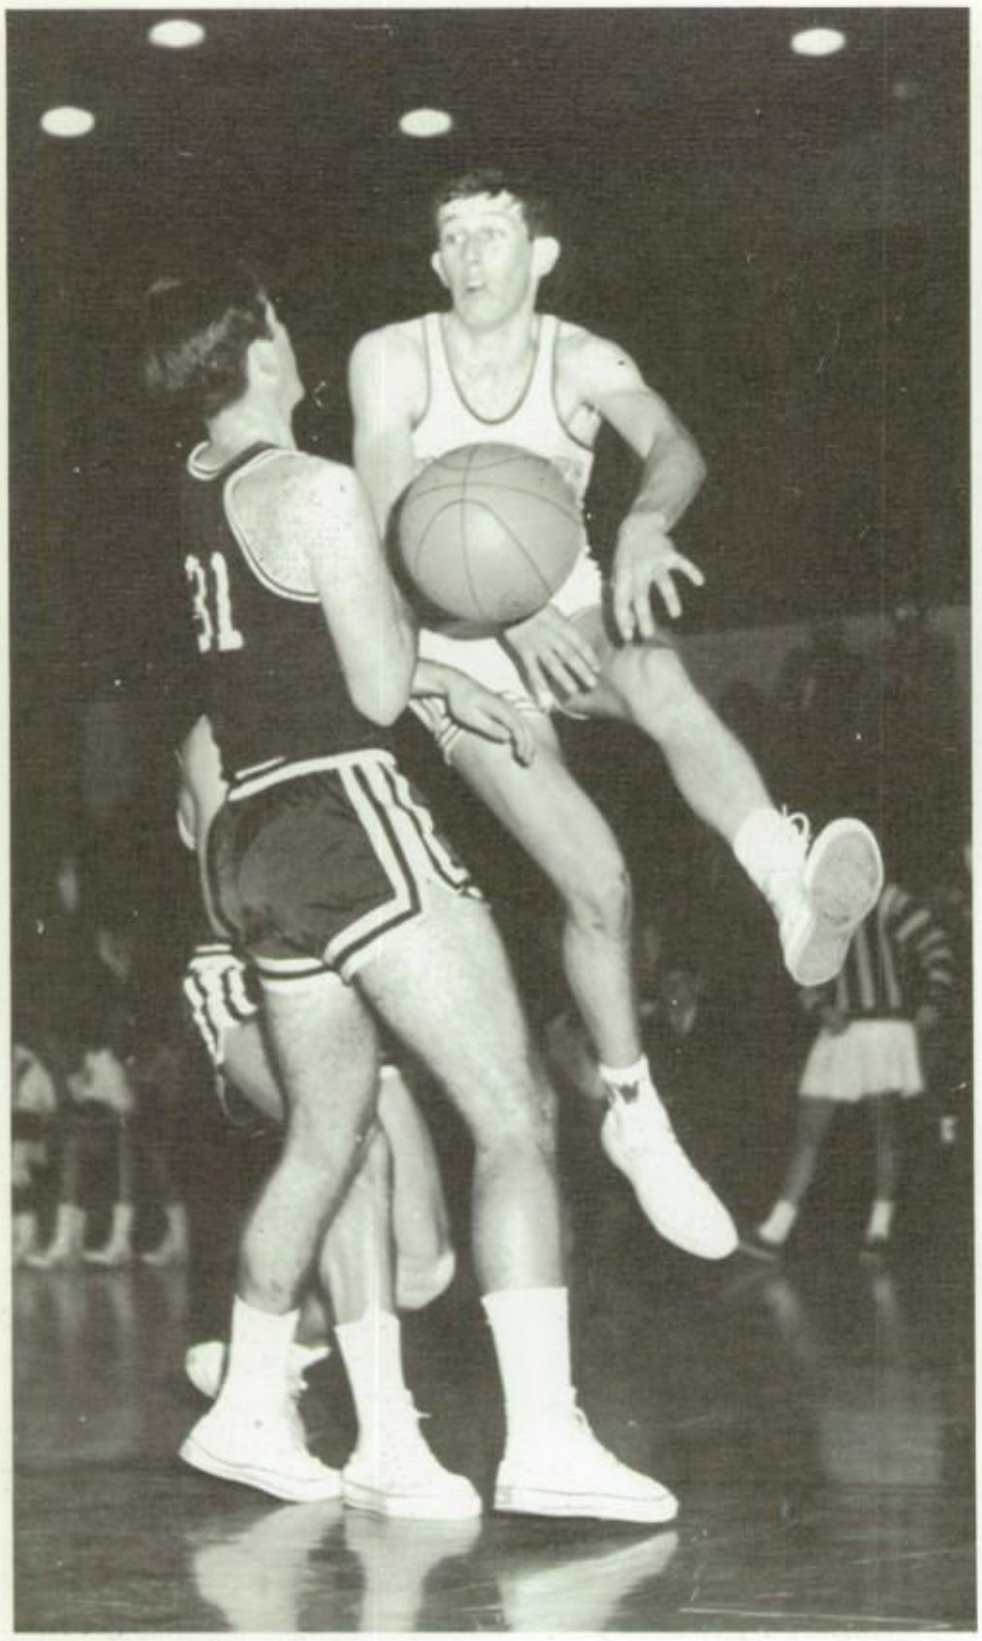
A 43-32 thrashing of Harding marked the beginning of Coach Don Van Pool's tenth campaign at Northwest. Steve Mitchell and Steve Wilson hit 12 and 10 points, respectively, while the sophomore Mitchell hauled down 18 rebounds in his varsity debut.

Another trophy was added to the display case when the team won the Capitol Hill Basketball Tournament by clipping El Reno 62-57 and the host club 75-69 before ambushing Enid 54-42 in the finals. Held for the first time this year, this tournament has been established as a permanent event in the city area. Schools will alternate as hosts.

Wilson broke the school rebound record with 25 against El Reno, and Phil Bailey scored 30 off Capitol Hill to win places on the All-Tournament team.

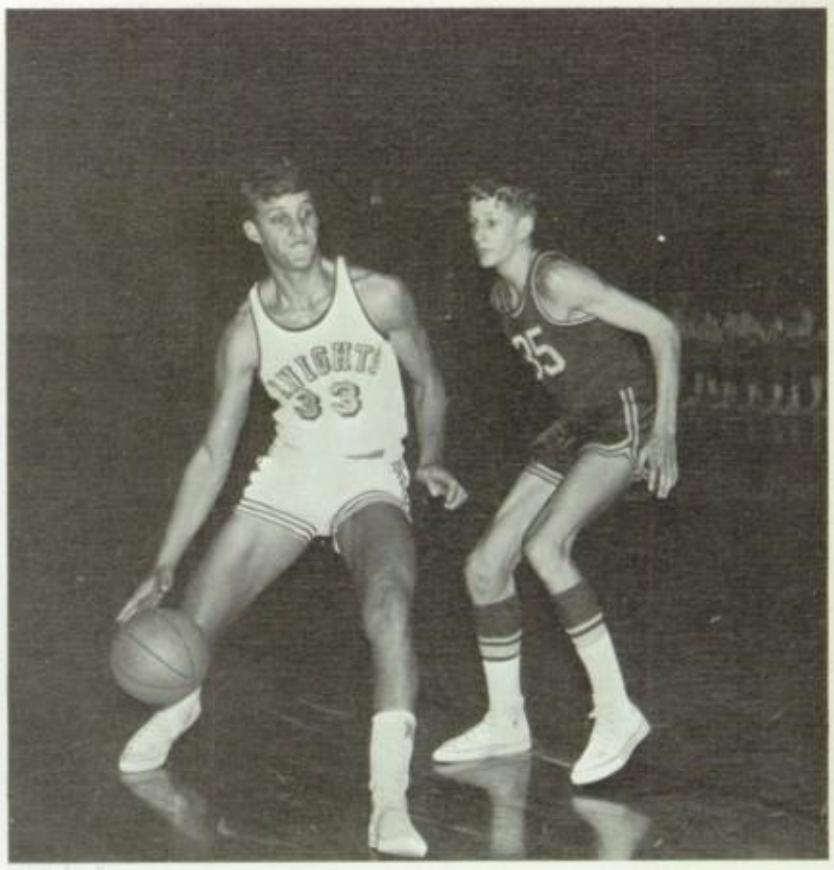


IS it pre-game strategy or a good joke which amuses Coach Don Van Pool before his cagers clash with Shawnee in an important Mid-State battle?



"WHERE'D that ball go?" Stan Jerome fouls Shawnee's Jack Lowe in the closing tense minutes of the Knights' 51-50 victory.

PHIL BAILEY eyes a path around Douglass' Mike Reese as Steve Mitchell anticipates the action in the 78-64 loss to the Trojans.



GRIM determination is expressed by Steve Wilson as he drives past Grant's John Hoster on the way to the basket.

Close Finishes Reflect

The first home appearance proved successful as the roundballers, behind Wilson's 18 points, were able to lance Midwest City 60-31.

With Amos Thomas missing only one shot from the field all night while scoring 30, Douglass handed Northwest its first defeat of the season, 88-70. Bailey hit 23 points in a losing cause to lead the Knight scorers.

Trailing Capitol Hill 37-34 at the end of the third quarter, Northwest took the lead with a pair of field goals by Sutter early in the fourth period. The 6' 8" Mitchell, who hit 19, put the cagers ahead to stay at 40-39, and then with some clutch free throw shooting, the Knights were able to increase the margin to the final score, 56-50.

A 20-point second quarter scoring splurge turned an early John Marshall lead into a 32-23 halftime margin and then on to the final margin of 57-44.

Using a 27-11 edge on the boards to good advantage, the Knights were able to defeat Enid 46-39, January 13.

Sutter hit a career high of 22 points against U.S. Grant the next night as the cagers flogged the Generals 67-51.

Chances of winning the conference trophy were all but wiped out when Putnam City handed the cagers their second conference loss, 64-62. The loss GANGING up on Jim Swartzendruber are Grant Generals Dick Chambless (31), Jerry Hopkins and John Hoster (35).

Successful Campaign

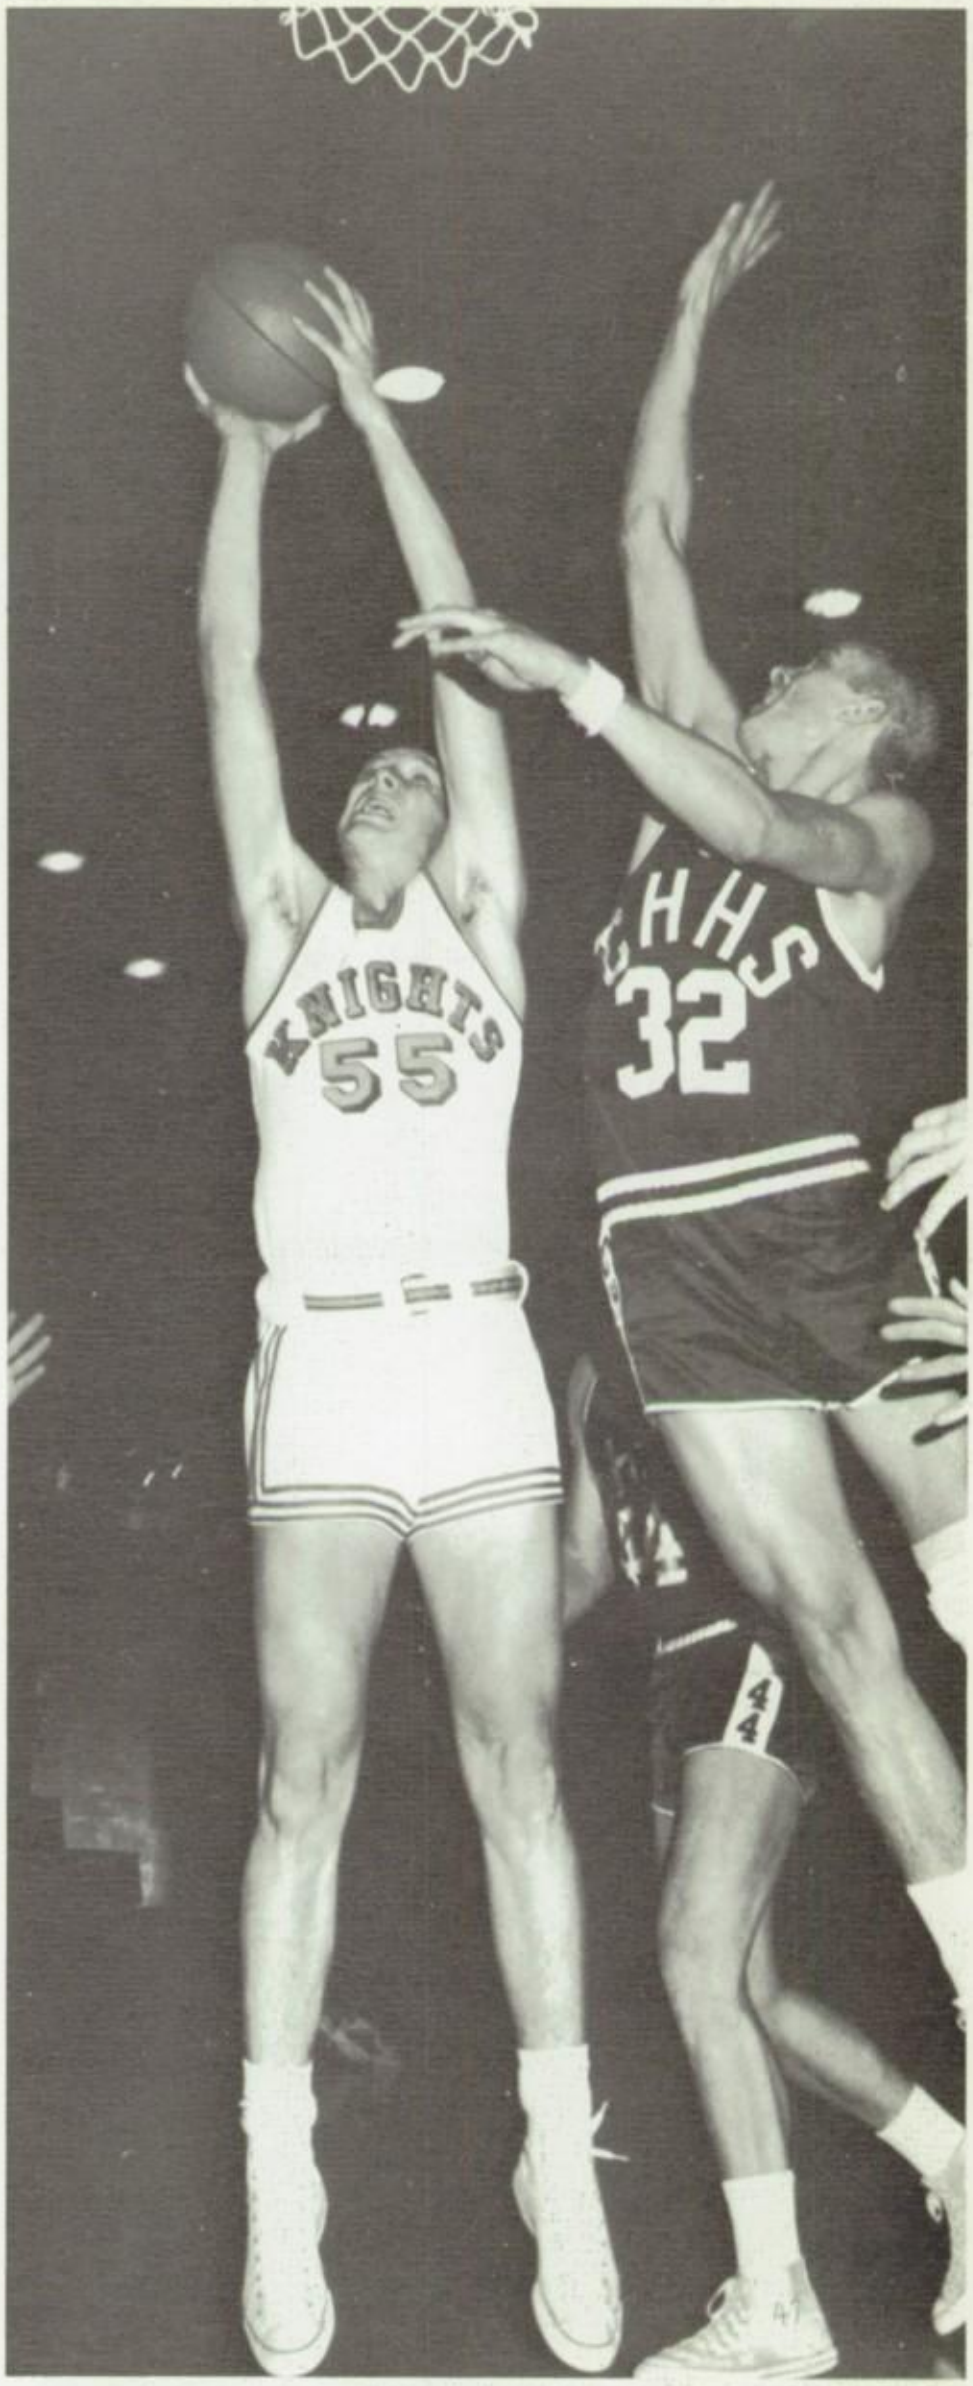
slipped the team to two games behind the front-running Douglass Trojans.

Shawnee's stalling tactics proved ineffective as the Knights soared to a 24-8 lead at halftime and then withstood a last ditch rally by the Wolves before taking a 38-27 decision.

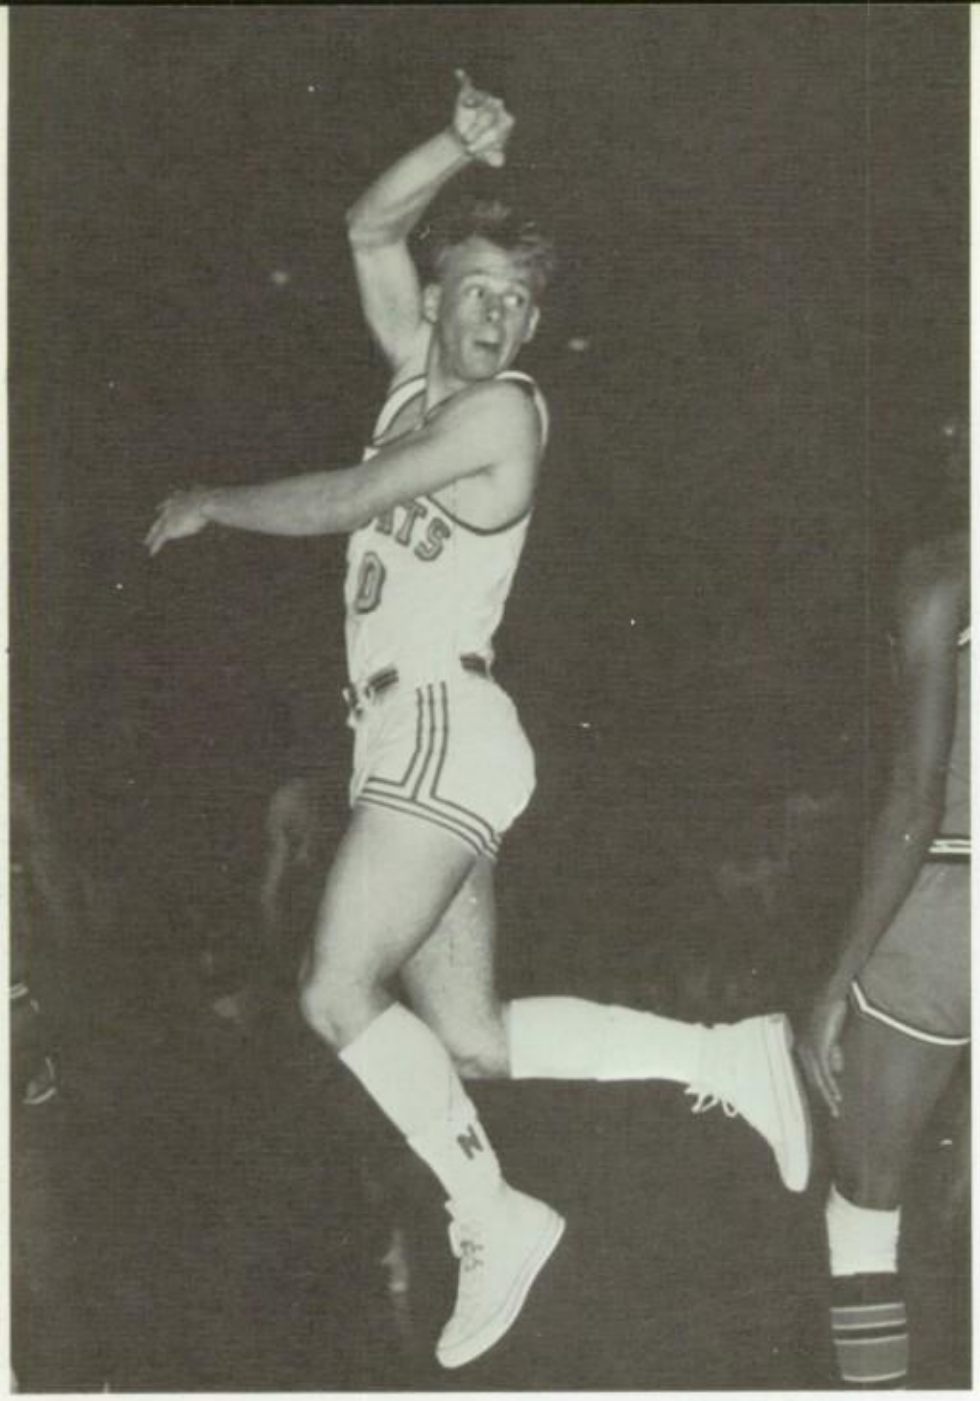
Leading only 3-2 after the first eight minutes of play, the cagers took advantage of Mitchell's 28 points to gallop past the smaller Grant Generals 55-42.

Down by seven points at the end of the third period, the purple-and-gold came storming back behind Stan Jerome and Bill Cheatham to edge Midwest City in a real "cliffhanger." With 11 seconds to go in the game, Cheatham hit a 30-foot jump shot to move the Knights within one point and then just before the gun sounded, Cheatham put up another 30-footer which swished through the hoop to net the final margin. Jerome had helped Northwest get back into the game and set up Cheatham's game winning heroics by scoring 10 of his 16 points in the final quarter.

Once again the orange-and-black proved too much for the Knights as Douglass won 78-64. Jerome tied the Trojan's Joe Love for game scoring honors by hitting 20, while Wilson turned in a sparkling job on the boards and on defense, played opposite Trojan prize center Amos Thomas and held him to 15 while scoring 18. The loss put the Knights three games behind Douglas with four conference games to go.



ON THE FRONT of a fast break, Steve Mitchell gets off a shot despite the effort of Redskin John Williams, in the Knights' 56-50 victory.



IS IT a ballerina? Puzzled Mike Sutter suddenly realizes he can fly after passing the ball to an open teammate.

"MOVE OVER!" Stan Jerome races by Douglass' Adrian Harris.

'Cliffhangers' Please Spirited Knight Fans

Cheatham again proved the decisive factor when he hit a field goal with two seconds left in the last period to merit a 51-50 decision over Shawnee. Wilson led all scorers by hitting 21.

While Douglass was sacking up its second straight conference title with an 84-55 rout of Midwest City, February 10, Northwest was galloping past Capitol Hill for the third time this season, 56-44.

Displaying a balanced scoring attack which featured four players in double figures and hitting 14-of-16 from the charity stripe, roundballers ran past John Marshall 58-30 to set up their battle with Enid, tied at this point for second place with the Knights in conference action at 11-3.

With the score 45-44 in Enid's favor, Mitchell was fouled with three seconds to go before the final buzzer. He missed his chance to tie the game, but 6' 6" Wilson tipped in the missed shot to hand Northwest a 46-45 hairline decision and second place in the conference with a 12-3 mark, and one game to go for both teams. It also marked the Knights' third victory this year and the eleventh in the last 12 meetings with the Plainsmen.

The next night, after being down 27-16 at halftime, the Knights fought back behind Wilson and Sutter to tie Putnam City 33-33 during the third quarter. But the Pirates, behind Rick Worley and Johnny McMinn, slowly pulled away to post a 58-51 win. Wilson and Sutter paced Northwest in scoring, hitting 20 and 17 points respectively.

An upset by John Marshall, 55-54 in overtime during the first round of regional play ended the season for the Knights.

Phenomenal Streak of 35 Wins Posted

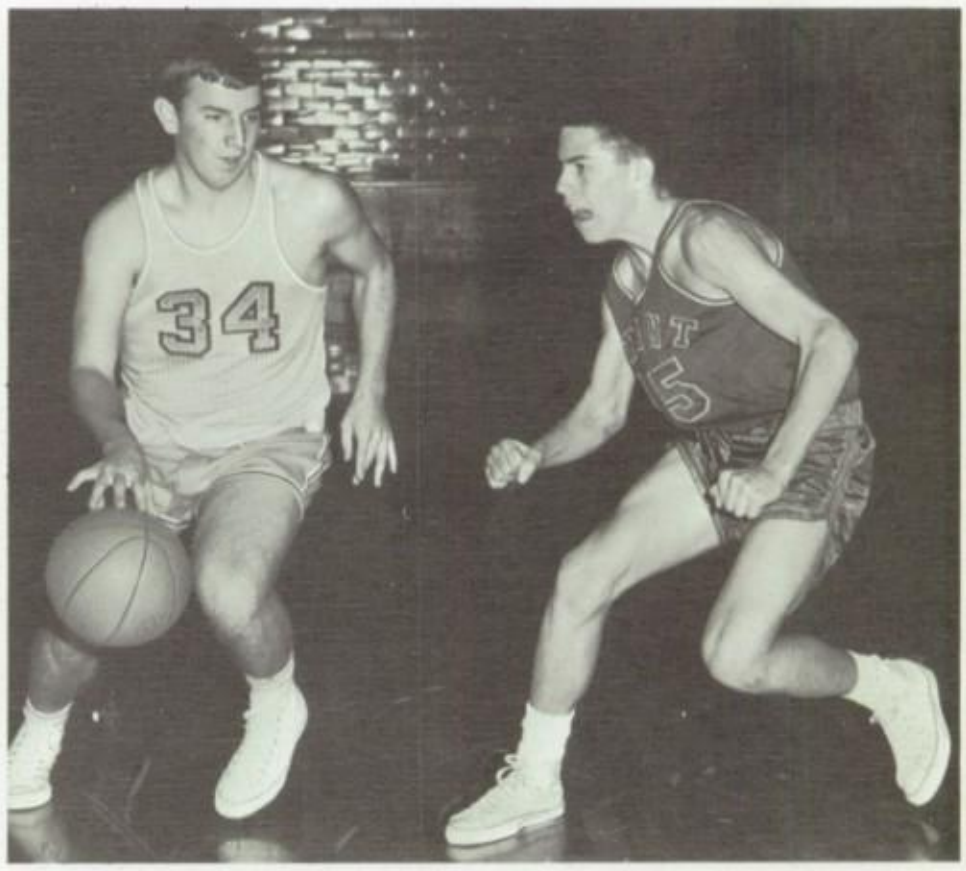
INCREASING its home winning streak, which began in 1963, to 35 games, Coach Clay Davis' B-squad compiled a 14-3 record.

Top scorers for the Junior Varsity were Juniors Tim Eaker (188), Mike Rogers (185) and George Lemmon (153) who were also the team's leading rebounders.

Narrow losses to Enid, Midwest City and Putnam City marred the team's record, while the highlight of the season was the winning of both Douglass games.

The C-squad ended the year with an 11-1 record. Pacing the Little Knights in scoring were Bruce Scott and Skip Bayless while Ronnie Raunborg, John Coury and Tom James were tops in rebounding.

The distinction of being the first freshmen cage squad from Northwest to defeat Kennedy Junior High was accorded the Little Knights.



JOHN CHEATHAM eyes an opening to the basket as he tries to get around Rick Burns of Grant in another Junior Varsity win 61-44.

BOTH the Mid-State and City titles were captured for the first time in seven years by Northwest swimmers, who finished their season with a 10-0 dual meet record.

In Mid-State competition, Coach Charles Carpenter's swimmers outdistanced all other teams for the second consecutive year. Marty Schnetzler, who led the squad in scoring, and Phil Cotter, team captain, won individual first places. The 400-yard freestyle relay also gained a gold medal for each member.

Last year's City Champs, John Marshall, were upset by Northwest, who scored 75 points to John Marshall's 74. Winners were Jim Whytlaw, diving, and the 200-yard medley relay, consisting of Bob Schneider, Dan Brummitt, Jim Walkup, and Don Tidholm.

Scoring 16 points in the State Tournament, the Knights finished sixth in team scoring. Placing for the mermen were Jim Walkup and Jim Whytlaw, claiming third and fourth place in diving; Schnetzler, sixth, 400-yard freestyle; Stan Wilsey, fifth, 100-yard freestyle; and the 400-yard freestyle relay, which placed fourth.

Experienced Matmen Anchor Steady Season

WRESTLING 11 instead of the usual 10 dual meets, Knight matmen posted a 7-4 record, rated third in the All-City Tournament and fourth in the Mid-State and Regional Tournaments.

John Reeves led the scoring with 90 points followed by Tom Brady with 65, and Neil Choate with 63. Reeves placed first in the All-City, Mid-State and Regional Tournaments. Brady, in his first year of wrestling, won seven of nine dual meets, and placed second in all tournaments.

Six other Northwest wrestlers placed in the All-City Tournament. Choate placed first, followed by Tom Gibson, Jim May, and Charlie Corey in second place, and Bruce Bunch in third. Choate and Gibson placed second and third, respectively, in the Mid-State Tournament.

Led by high scorer Pat Rattan, with 30 points, the junior varsity posted a 6-2 record. Tied for the second high slot were Tom Peek and Jerry Goodrich, both with 22 points.

Under the direction of new coach Fred Holloway, the C-squad posted a 5-6 record behind high scorers Gary Dickenson, Barry Geller, and Mike Marcotte.

Eleven seniors, including four starters, finished their wrestling career at Northwest.

V-Men Sweep Slate To Rule Team Play

ORGANIZATION of this year's intramural program was the responsibility of Student Council Intramural Chairmen for the first and second semesters, Mike Hall and Bill Wagner.

All events were scheduled after school or on Saturdays. Athletes participating in the school athletic program were eligible to compete only in intramural sports in which they were not otherwise involved.

The intramural program began in September with football and ran through April, when it closed with softball, bowling, golf, and tennis.

The Invincible "V" Men became the first team in school history to sweep all intramural team sports. Captained by Keith Blair in basketball and Phil Cotter in football, the "V" Men also won volleyball, wrestling, and softball events. Members of the "V" Men were John Bishop, Mike Cook, Charles Corey, Dennis Daniel, Bob Dempsey, Jim Ellis, Mike Farrell, John Green, Frank Kellert, Bob Kerns, Dennis Langford, Steve Lowell, Terry O'Toole, Rick Page, Tom Scott, Tom Simonson, Jim Swartzendruber, Randy Waterman, Steve Wilson, and Fred Yeagley. All 22 "V" Men were seniors.

New Horizons Loom For 829 Freshmen

WHAT DID the 829 freshmen find when they entered Northwest's doors August 29, 1966? A whole new world!

Orientation Day opened with a general assembly in the auditorium for all freshmen. Representatives from all school clubs and organizations briefed the group on all aspects of school life. A tour of the building completed the program.

One new experience after another followed for the members of the youngest, largest class. They had to work harder than ever before to keep up with the tempo of high school life.

Counselors were guided in advising curriculum choices for freshmen by D.A.T. (Differential Aptitude Tests) administered in September.

And then there were so many decisions to make! What clubs to join, whom to vote for in school elections, how to budget time to study and attend school activities.

No class took greater pride in being a part of the "big school operation" traditional at Northwest.

"THIS SPOT will be perfect!" Selecting the site for their annual class picnic, a tradition maintained by sophomores for eleven years, are sophomore class officers Benny Byers, v. pres.; Susie Suggs, treas.; Jackie Lamb, sec.; Frank Marwood, pres.; and Nancy Arnold, sgt.-at-arms.

Heralds Hail Status, Establish New Goals

HERALDS rejoiced in their new status and relished the feeling of no longer being a member of the youngest class.

After evaluation of STEP test profiles, (Sequential Test of Educational Progress), sophomores conferred seriously with counselors concerning curriculum and career choices.

Talent was plentiful in this 766-member class. Music-wise, sophomore accomplishments were impressive. Three tenth grade band members were accepted by the Junior Symphony, while four vocalists were selected for the all-city choir.

Fifteen sophomores, the largest number of tenth graders ever to participate in debate, won numerous trophies.

A big event in the lives of most sophomores was the acquisition of a driver's license on their sixteenth birthday.

Sophomores will long remember their class' freshman picnic last May 23 at Springlake Amusement Park. A mechanical accident on one of the rides crowded with Northwest students sent four students, including class president Craig Maurer, who was most seriously hurt, to the hospital.

CHOSEN by their classmates as Top Teens, best all-around students in the class, for the second consecutive year are Cathy McGregor and Craig Maurer.

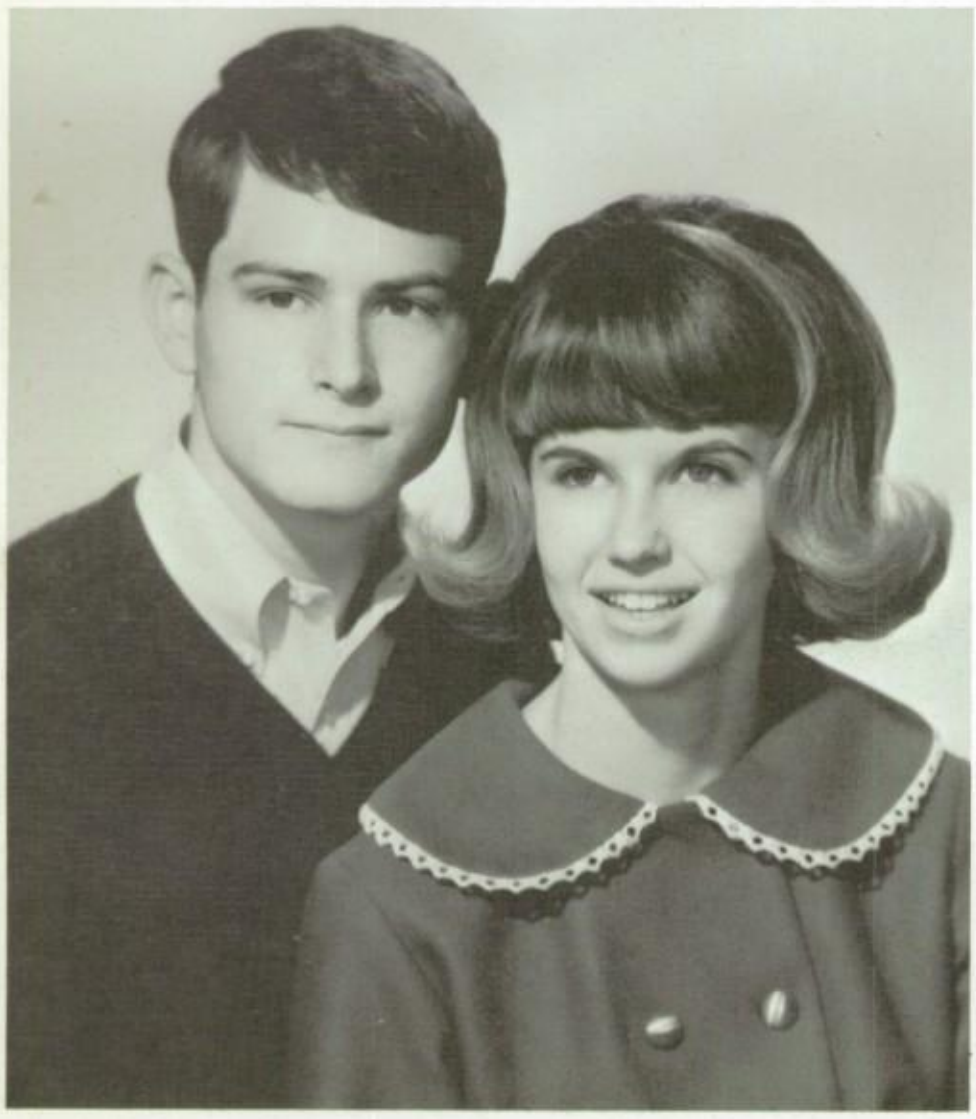
"WE can't have decorations like that with a $10 budget!" exclaims Miss Elizabeth Urmston, junior class sponsor. Katie Sheehan, treasurer; Jeanene Miller, secretary; Chris Meek, president; Danny Loving, sgt,-at-arms; George Lemmon, vice-president, try to make ends meet on prom expenses.



ELECTED by her classmates as Top Teen for the third straight year is Suzanne Martin. Chris Meek, junior class president, shares the honor.

Knights Conduct Rite By Passing of Sword

CLIMBING the trail blazed by Knights of old, juniors accepted eagerly the challenge to carry on the emblem of proud Knighthood as their predecessors have done, with victory and honor.

In the traditional end-of-school ceremony, the sword was passed by the senior class president, Terry Farmer, to the junior class president, Chris Meek. This symbol of leadership signified the obligations descending to the Squires as a last step toward Knighthood.

Already juniors have been selected for key positions next year in Northwest's 49 clubs and organizations. Members of the class have been chosen to head Student Council, school publications and other groups vital to the school's operation.

College loomed bigger on the horizon as counselors stressed long-range planning. As teachers and advisers talked about requirements, it seemed that just being admitted to college was a major project!

But bewilderment after taking the National Merits was soon overshadowed by the excitement of receiving long-awaited class rings and getting ready for the prom.

Under the direction of class officers, numerous committees met frequently all spring to design decorations carrying out the prom theme.

Proud Class Fosters Brand New Traditions

NORTHWEST CLASSEN—SCHOOL ABOVE AND BEYOND—and from the moment the '67 class arrived in September 1963 until the final strains of the graduation recessional shall die away in Taft Stadium May 25, the 685 seniors have put all their efforts and enthusiasm into proving just that.

Eager to initiate improvements in senior activities, seniors were granted the privilege of scheduling more class meetings than ever before. Consequently, seniors were better informed and were able to voice individual opinions.

At the first class meeting significant changes were made. Light weight commencement robes were substituted for the former gray wool gowns, and for the first time the commencement speakers were chosen from the graduating class. Formerly a prominent guest speaker gave the address at ceremonies.

Seniors voted to move the Senior Sermon, which has been dropped in many schools, from the school auditorium to St. Luke's Methodist Church this year.

Making arrangements for college proved very time consuming. But seniors took time to relish participating in all Knightland activities for the last time, eager to meet the challenge of the new life ahead.

Well, those past
~~the~~ few months have gone by fast and during this time we've gotten to be such good friends. I'm sorry
~~I~~ I can't
~~for~~ very much together, ~~you~~ but somehow I don't and I don't

to know that I appreciate all ty to do anything I can to help you. Randy & I want you to just as long as we have. I've mostly to you. Thanks you very much for everything

Love ya

'Thanks, Thanks! —' Staff Salutes Aides

To the many persons who have given so much assistance and cooperation, we the 1967 Round Table staff, gratefully acknowledge our indebtedness.

Although there are far too many people to recognize each individually, we would especially like to thank the student body, who made this book possible, the administration, and faculty, both as teacher and club sponsor.

To Mrs. Lu Carroll, company representative, and the Taylor Publishing Company, go special appreciation. We feel our relationship with them is unusually pleasant. One of our chief advisers was Mrs. Charlotte Eaker, English-journalism teacher.

Also we are grateful for the help of Mrs. Walter Sutton of Roger Myers' Studio, Wagners' Studio, Curtis Studio, and Rick Wagner, former staff photographer.

Finally, but certainly not least, we express our gratitude to Mr. Bob Gaut, assistant principal and business adviser, and to Mrs. Elizabeth Burdette, editorial adviser.

A sixteen page summer supplement, which will include awards, spring sports, plus graduation events, will be mailed to purchasers in late summer.

MARCH 6 was a red letter day in the journalism department. The Round Table went to press and the staff celebrated by playing in the snow, which lasted just four hours.

IT'S D-DAY (deadline day) and sportswriters Pete Ukena, Marty Schnetzler, and Mark Whitney work overtime to finish copy.

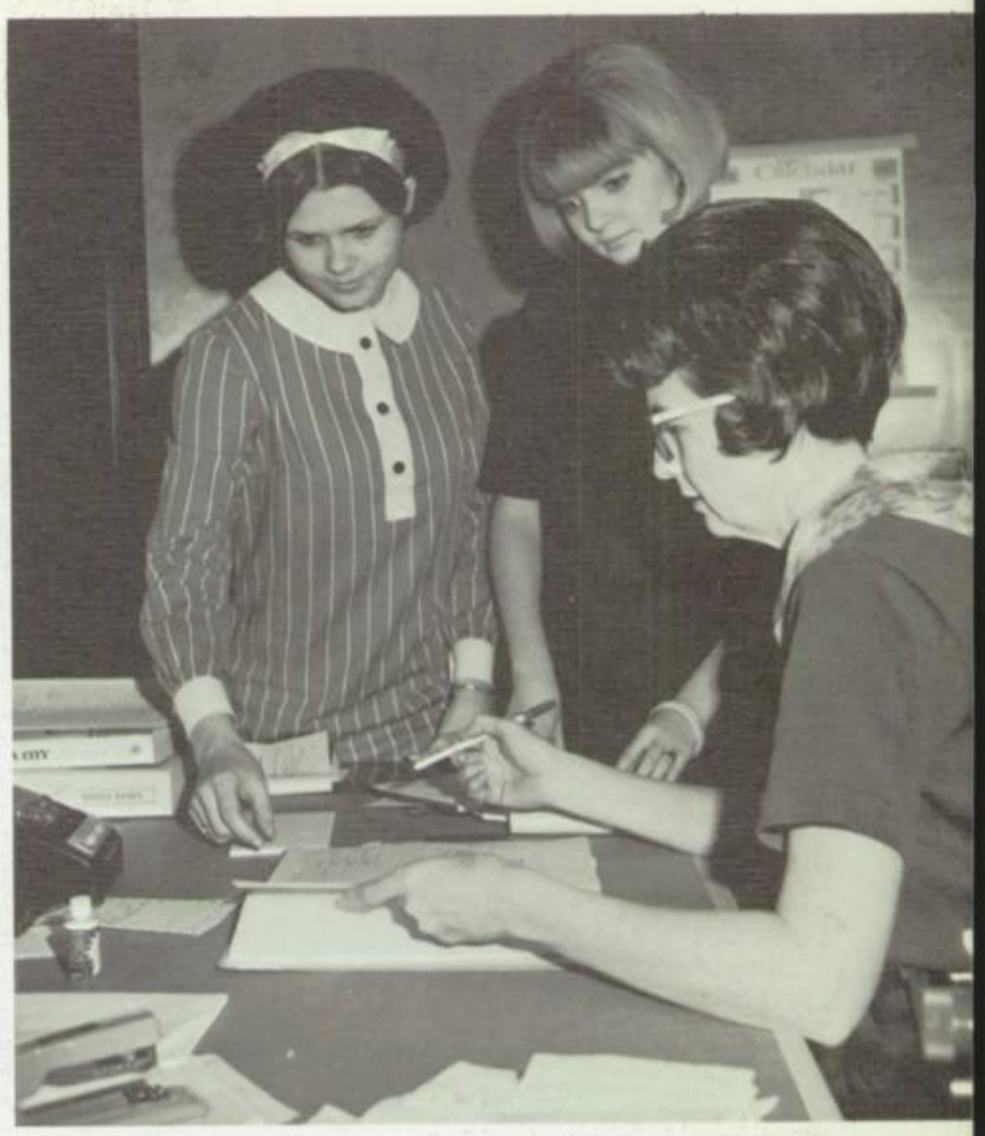
THEIR PAGES finished, senior section editors Janie Phillips and Lynne Strong playfully "size" editor Terry Clark with the scaleograph used by staffers in proportioning pictures for reduction or enlargement.



PROOF that operating school publications is "big business" is evidenced by the daily trips Deanna Bond and Sandy Bacon make to the office of Mrs. Jane Smith, school financial secretary.

Editor's reflections

End of Chapter — Round Table '66-67

Round Table '67 marks another milestone in the lives of the 3100 students in this school—a school filled with honor, tradition, friends and memories.

On these pages we have tried to capture the spirit which has carried Northwest Classen to its present pinnacle of success. To help fulfill this purpose, we chose this year's school motto "Challenge to Greatness" as our theme.

The key word on the Round Table staff this year was CHANGE. Our format differs from that of any previous yearbook. We changed layout patterns, headline and type style and selected a different kind of paper.

Mindful that expressions that make up the face of our school are constantly changing, we attempted to record the various moods, challenges, and achievements reflected at Northwest this year.

They are recorded, not just for an instant, but for all time.

Terry Clark

Pam,
You have been awarded with the most coveted award to be found in 6th Hour auditorium study hall - The neatness society for cool people medal for superior achievement in catching Wrigleys chewing gum. the first of its kind to be awarded. and if there's any more to be awarded I'm sure you will get it. Have fun this summer and good luck with the boys. Stay sweet.

Jim Arnodell SR 69

Pam:
You're really a good kid and even nice too. Be good and May God Bless.
Love Ya,
Debbie Nantes

Pam
It's been great with you in Sherman's class in Sherman this year. That class was a blast. I hope we can be in some classes together next year. Good luck and have fun this summer.
Luv ya', Pam
Suzy Palmer

Pam,
Is the "sister" of my one and only. I really don't know what to say or how to say what I'd say. We've really had some great times and very memorable. And there'll be many more in the future. I only hope you'll remember me after I'm gone. May the best of the present be the worst of your future.

Love Always,
Shirley Neal
St. '67

P.S. Mike will probably sign this later, but I hope you'll always think of Mike & Shirley as being together.

Pam -
It's been so much fun knowing you these past years. You are real sweet and cute! Have fun this summer!
Love ya
Chuckie

Pam -
Our Junior year in Drug was a real good one. Let's make our Senior year an even better one. Let's really have a good year - Good luck next year -

Pam,
We've had high
times on the ocean of Chistory (corn) this year, haven't we? The "Farmer" and the old lady weren't half bad - just horrible! Anyway, I sure do love ya! Bye Bye -

To one of the nicest + sweetest girls
I know. You have so fabulous personality and good looks to go along with it. It will take a special combination to get to know each other will let me.

Sister Pam I want us to stay good friends and my wish is that maybe we can Stay the way you are and you will go far.
Best Wishes this summer if you

-PAM-

The school years over and your still with us. You've cut so much I'm surprised your still here. This is the first year I've known you and its really been fun keeping about your romances. Also I'll never forget that night we went to Quick's. That's not suppose to sound queer. I'll prosably see you at Quick's this summer, but if I don't I'll look for you in the car accident reports in the paper. I'd tell you to be good, but what's the use. Just have fun this summer. I hope we have some classes together next year so I can hear about the "Bush" (your friends.

Love ya
